A.I. SUMMARY

The following Summary contains options and blank spaces, marked by square brackets or italic script, relating to the Certificates that may be issued under the Tripartite Base Prospectus. The summaries for the individual issues of Certificates will be included in the Final Terms and will contain only those options that are relevant for the respective issue of Certificates. In addition, the placeholders ("●") contained in the following Summary that are relevant for the particular issue will be filled out in the summary for the individual issue.

Summaries consist of specific disclosure requirements, known as the "key information". This key information is divided into the following Sections A - E and numbered (A.1 - E.7).

This Summary contains all the key information required to be incorporated in a summary for this type of securities and for issuers of this type. Since some items do not fall to be included, the numbering is not consecutive in places and there may be gaps. Even where an item of key information must be included in the summary due to the type of security or for issuers of this type, it is possible that there is no relevant information to be disclosed with respect to this item of key information. In this event, the summary will contain a brief description of the key information and the comment "Not applicable" in the relevant place.

Section A - Introduction and warnings
A.1	This Summary presents the key features and risks of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG (the " Issuer ") and of the Certificates issued under the Tripartite Base Prospectus. The Summary is intended as an introduction to the Tripartite Base Prospectus which comprises this Summary, the Registration Form of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG dated 3 May 2013, including any supplements, and the Securities Note of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG dated 24 May 2013. Investors should therefore ensure that any decision to invest in the Certificates is based on a review of the entire Prospectus, including any supplements and the Final Terms. Where claims relating to the information contained in a base prospectus, any supplements, and the respective Final Terms are brought before a court, the investor acting as plaintiff may, as a result of the laws of individual member states of the European Economic Area, have to bear the costs of translating the base prospectus, any supplements, and the Final Terms into the language of the court prior to the commencement of legal proceedings. The Issuer can be held liable for the content of this Summary, including any translation prepared, but only in the event that the Summary is misleading, inaccurate or inconsistent when read in conjunction with the other parts of the Prospectus, or, when read in conjunction with the other parts of the Tripartite Base Prospectus, does not convey all of the key information required.

Section B - Issuer and any guarantors
B.1	The legal and commercial name of the issuer.	The legal and commercial name of the Issuer is Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG.
B.2	The domicile and legal form of the issuer, the legislation under which the issuer operates and its country of incorporation.	Domicile Frankfurt am Main; the address of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG is Frankfurter Welle, Reuterweg 16, 60323 Frankfurt am Main, Federal Republic of Germany (telephone +49 (0)69-1366-0). Legal form and jurisdiction The Issuer is a stock corporation (Aktiengesellschaft, "AG") under German law. Place of registration The Issuer is entered in the commercial register of the Frankfurt am Main Local Court under the number HRB 88301.
B.4b	A description of any known trends affecting the issuer and the industries in which it operates.	The Bank expects world economic growth in 2013 to increase slightly from 2.5 per cent to 2.6 per cent. In 2014 growth should increase to 3.2 per cent. The slowdown in worldwide economic growth was principally due to the slowdown of growth in the industrialized countries. The Bank expects moderate growth of 1.0 per cent for industrialized countries in 2013 and a modest increase to 1.6 per cent in 2014. Overall the Bank expects continued significant variations between different regions in the world. The Bank expects a mild recession in the Eurozone (the Bank's growth forecasts are for -0.6 per cent and -0.4 per cent for 2013 and 2014). This is seen to be due to the continuing sovereign debt crisis and the high level of private sector indebtedness in the peripheral European countries. The ECB is expected to continue to act to stabilise markets and to reduce interest rates in the second quarter of 2013 depending on further economic growth in the Eurozone, which could be followed by a forecast final interest rate reduction in the second half of the year. The Bank considers it likely that Southern Europe and Ireland will only gradually reach a common sustainable fiscal path. If the core countries in future are no longer prepared to increase their support for the peripheral states, this could lead to a raft of debt restructurings (with likely longer maturities and interest rate reductions), but probably not before 2015. In the Warrants and Certificates Division, the competition is expected to remain intense among leading issuers. Further regulatory challenges are expected, which have to be integrated into the business in a timely manner. Given the forecasts made by the individual business divisions and a restrictive cost management approach, the Bank is expecting continued overall profits in fiscal years 2013 and 2014.
B.5	If the issuer is part of a group, a description of the group and the issuer's position within the group.	The Issuer is a member of the German subgroup of Citigroup. Section D - Risks

D.2	Key information on the key risks that are specific to the issuer.	Risk of the cessation or limitation of price-setting by the Issuer If the Issuer were to limit or completely abandon its voluntary intention to set bid and offered prices, there would be a danger, if prices for the Certificates were not set by any other party, that investors would have to wait for the final maturity of the Certificates or, where early exercise is possible, exercise the certificate right. Liquidity risk despite control and profit and loss transfer agreement The Issuer would also be unable to meet its obligations arising from the securities despite the control and profit and loss transfer agreement if, in the event that the Issuer generated a net loss, while the immediate parent company would in principle be required to assume that loss, it was unable or unwilling to comply with this contractual obligation as a result of its own liquidity difficulties or overindebtedness. Brokerage of transactions for other Group companies and allocation of work within Citigroup The great majority of the Issuer's commission income consists of transfer pricing income from brokerage transactions with affiliated companies. The Issuer's costs arising from the exchange of services with individual Group companies are reimbursed on the basis of existing agreements using transfer prices. For this purpose, income and expenses, in particular commission income for trans-

The transactions relate to equity trading, bond issues and corporate finance as well as to the sale of structured products, corporate derivatives and currency management products, and also global relationship banking. This process is coordinated closely across all areas with Citigroup Global Markets Limited, London, in particular, and also with Citibank, N.A., London. If a decision were made within Citigroup to reallocate the relevant activities to other Group companies, the Issuer could lose a material source of income. Risks in the lending business The Issuer's loan portfolio consists mainly of loans to international customers in the industrial and financial services sectors with investment grade credit ratings. Loan defaults have been avoided in recent years thanks to this business policy. The loan portfolio is mainly concentrated on a manageable number of borrower units, as defined by German banking law. If significant individual borrowers in the Issuer's portfolio were unable to meet their obligations, therefore, a substantial increase in loan loss provisions would be conceivable in principle and loan defaults could occur. Interest rate risk Risk-Treasury assesses and controls the Issuer's interest rate risk. The Issuer's exposure to changes in interest rates maybe a mid to long-term risk in holdings in liquid securities if these were not originally covered by hedging transactions like interest rate swap agreements. The same applies to medium and long-term loans granted by the Issuer. A significant risk from interest rate changes could arise where interest rates are not monitored in a timely or sensitive manner, which may produce the concomitant danger that action to cover such interest rate exposure is not taken early enough. Operating risk The Issuer has transferred a number of areas that are significant for the proper management and control of its business activities and the risks associated with them to other companies within and outside Citigroup. In the event that the companies to which these areas have been transferred do not fulfill their contractual obligations or do not do so at the proper time, the ability of the Issuer to meet its own obligations arising from the securities it has issued on the due dates could also be adversely affected. Tax risks The tax decisions issued to the Issuer are regularly subject to subsequent review in the form of an external tax audit or to the resolution of individual issues by the relevant courts. This is normal practice and means that an additional tax demand can be issued by the tax authorities years after the original assessment as a result of a tax audit or a generally applicable decision by a tax court. General business risks <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Settlement risk The risk that a business transaction is incorrectly processed or that a transaction is executed which is different from the intentions and expectations of the Issuer's management. • Information risk The risk that information, which was generated, received, transmitted or stored within or outside the Issuer's place of business, can no longer be accessed. Furthermore, such information may be of poor quality, or have been wrongly handled or improperly obtained. The information risk also includes risks that are generated by systems and used for processing information. • Reputation risk This represents the Issuer's risk that its relations with its customers could be harmed if its services are poor or transactions are incorrectly executed. This risk also includes the risk of en-

Personnel risk entails the risk of high staff turnover and the risk that the Issuer will be unable to retain a sufficient staff of qualified personnel, as well as the risk that the Issuer's employees may knowingly or negligently violate established regulations or the firm's business ethics standards. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Legal and regulatory risks The Issuer views legal risks as any and all risks resulting from binding contracts and governing legislation. Regulatory risks result from the legal environment in which the Issuer does business. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Risk of fraud These are both internal and external risks of fraud such as bribery, insider trading and theft of data.
D.6	Key information on the key risks that are specific to the securities. This must include a risk warning to the effect that investors may lose the value of their entire investment or part of it, as the case may be, and/or, if the investor's liability is not limited to the value of his investment, a statement of that fact, together with a description of the circumstances in which such additional liability arises and the likely financial effect.	General risk factors of Certificates Risk of total loss The Certificates represent risky investment instruments. They entail the risk of losing the capital invested, up to and including a total loss. The rights represented by the Certificates may suffer an irrecoverable loss of value, because these Certificates only ever represent rights that are valid for a limited period. Risk of default by the Issuer of the Certificates In the event of the Issuer becoming insolvent, investors could suffer a loss up to and including a total loss. As bearer securities, Certificates do not fall within the scope of the deposit protection arrangements. Risk of the absence or non-functioning of a secondary market in the Certificates or restricted availability of the Issuer's electronic trading system Investors should not assume that they will be able to sell a Certificate at a particular time or at a particular price during its term. Investors should assume instead that pricing on the exchange can only take place within the spread of bid and offered prices quoted by the Issuer, if available, and that their buy or sell orders on the exchange will be executed with the Issuer as the direct or indirect counterparty. Risk in connection with the cessation of secondary trading immediately prior to final maturity The Issuer and/or the exchange cease trading in the Certificates shortly before their valuation date. However, the reference price of the underlying on the valuation date and/or the applicable exchange rate, both of which are important for the purpose of determining the cash amount of the Certificates, may still change between the last exchange trading day and the maturity date, which may be to the disadvantage of the investor. There is a particular risk that the price of the underlying may reach, fall below or exceed a barrier for the first time shortly before the reference price on the valuation date is determined and after trading in the secondary market has already finished. Exchange rate risk If the underlying asset or basket constituents on which the Certificates are based are denominated in a currency other than the settlement currency, investors may be exposed to the risk of suffering a loss as a result of the conversion of the currency of the underlying or of a basket constituent into the settlement currency or into the trading currency (in the event of a sale in the secondary market). Risk relating to market disruption events

	In the event of market disruption events with respect to the underlying occurring on the (final) valuation date or, in the case of Open End Certificates, on exercise, the Issuer has the right to postpone the valuation date for the reference price. This may result in an additional risk for investors if the underlying performs negatively during the period of delay or, where applicable, if the exchange rate for conversion into the settlement currency moves in a direction that is unfavorable for the investor. Product specific risk factors [Product No. 1: Specific risk factors of Bonus or Capped Bonus or Bonus Pro or Capped Bonus Pro Certificates: If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier [at any time [during the observation period] [or] [on an observation date] within the observation hours] [or] [at the observation time], the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. If an early payout event occurs, the term of the Certificate ends early upon payment of the early payout amount. In the event of early redemption, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the early payout amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest the early payout amount on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased. In the event of early redemption, the investor does not participate in any subsequent performance of the price of the underlying. In this case, the maximum expected return is limited by the difference between the purchase price paid for the Certificate and the respective early payout amount. If an early payout event does not occur and the relevant reference price on the final valuation date is lower than the redemption level and the observation price equals or falls below the barrier [at any time [during the observation period] [or] [on an observation date] within the observation hours] [or] [at the observation time], the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the final valuation date. This means that investors in these Certificates participate positively in any negative price performance of the underlying, and negatively in any positive price performance (reverse participation). In other words: The lower the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date is, the higher the cash amount (subject to any cap). But the higher the reference price of the underlying on the valuation date is, the lower the cash amount. In the case of a proportional participation of 100 per cent in the performance of the price of the underlying, this means that if the price of the underlying rises by 100 per cent or more, no cash amount is payable on maturity and investors suffer a total loss. In addition, the potential return from these Certificates is subject to a fundamental limitation, since the negative performance of the underlying cannot exceed 100 per cent. If the observation price equals or exceeds the barrier [at any time [during the observation period] [or] [on an observation date] within the observation hours] [or] [at the observation time], the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the case of Open End Tracker Certificates, however, there is a risk that the term may be ended unexpectedly. The term of the Certificates ends either with the effective exercise of the Certificates in accordance with the respective terms and conditions (in each case only with respect to the Certificates exercised effectively), or with a termination of all of the Certificates by the Issuer. The Certificates may be exercised by the certificate holders with effect as of particular exercise dates defined in the terms and conditions. The certificate holders' exercise right is subject to certain conditions of exercise defined in detail in the terms and conditions. For the purposes of calculating the relevant cash amount, the respective exercise date on which the preconditions for effective exercise have been met is deemed to be the valuation date. The Issuer has the right to terminate all of the Certificates in a series in accordance with the terms and conditions. The certificate holders are given notice of any such termination of the Certificates in advance in accordance with the terms and conditions. For the purposes of calculating the relevant cash amount, the termination date specified in the notice is deemed to be the valuation date. In the light of the Issuer's termination right, investors should not assume that they will be able to exercise the Certificates with effect as of a particular exercise date. The consequence of exercise by the certificate holder or termination by the Issuer is that the certificate holder only participates in the performance of the underlying up to the redemption or termination date. In such cases, it is not possible for the certificate holder to participate in any potential further performance of the underlying. In the event of ordinary termination by the Issuer, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the termination amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest any termination amount paid by the Issuer in the event of termination on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased. Risk of the unpredictability of the cash amount on exercise

	In the event that the certificate rights are exercised, the proceeds of exercise cannot be predicted exactly, since the reference price of the underlying, which forms the basis for the calculation of the cash amount, is only determined when all the preconditions for exercise have been met. The longer the technical settlement for the exercise of the Certificates takes and the higher the volatility of the underlying is, the greater is the risk that the underlying will perform negatively between the time at which a certificate holder decides to exercise the Certificates and the date on which the reference price on exercise is determined. Furthermore, an additional loss may arise during the same period as a result of an unfavorable movement in exchange rates. Risk in the event that a management fee is applicable The Issuer may charge a management fee during the term of the Certificate or on exercise by the certificate holder or on termination by the Issuer. Any such fee may reduce the cash amount or the relevant performance of the underlying in accordance with the level of the fee. The Issuer may be entitled to adjust the level of the management fee during the term of the Certificates. In the worst case an investment in Open End Tracker Certificates may involve the total loss of the capital invested. The factors affecting the prices of commodities are numerous and complicated. If the fund invests in illiquid assets, significant losses may arise in the event that those assets are disposed of, particularly in the event of a sale subject to time pressure; those losses will be reflected in the value of the fund units and therefore in the value of the Certificates. There is also the possibility that a fund may be liquidated during the term of the Certificates. Since the Certificates are linked to the quoted price of the underlying futures contracts, knowledge of the method of operation of forward transactions and of the factors affecting their valuation are necessary to enable an accurate assessment to be made of the risks associated with the purchase of these Certificates, in addition to knowledge about the market for the underlying on which the respective futures contract is based. b) Rollover Since futures contracts as the underlying for the Certificates have a specific expiry date in each

The individual basket constituents may be equally weighted or may have different weighting factors. The lower the weighting of an individual basket constituent is, the lower the effect its price performance has on the price performance of the basket as a whole. The respective value of the basket is calculated on the basis of the prices of the individual basket constituents and of the weighting factor allocated to the particular basket constituent. In certain circumstances, the Issuer may be entitled to make subsequent corrections to the composition of the basket specified at the time of issue of the Certificates. If the Issuer has been given authorization to do this, investors cannot assume that the composition of the basket will remain the same throughout the term of the Certificates. The cash amount of Certificates linked to a basket may also be linked to the difference between the performance of various basket constituents. Abschnitt B – Emittent und etwaige Garantiegeber
B.1	Juristische und kommerzielle Bezeichnung des Emittenten.	Der juristische und kommerzielle Name des Emittenten lautet Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG.
B.2	Sitz und Rechtsform des Emittenten, das für den Emittenten geltende Recht und Land der Gründung der Gesellschaft.	Sitz Frankfurt am Main; die Adresse der Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG lautet Frankfurter Welle, Reuterweg 16, 60323 Frankfurt am Main, Bundesrepublik Deutschland (Telefon +49 (0)69-1366-0). Rechtsform und Rechtsordnung Der Emittent ist eine Aktiengesellschaft (AG) nach deutschem Recht. Ort der Registrierung Der Emittent ist im Handelsregister des Amtsgerichts Frankfurt/Main unter der Nummer HRB 88301 eingetragen.
B.4b	Alle bereits bekannten Trends, die sich auf den Emittenten und die Branchen, in denen er tätig ist, auswirken.	Für die Entwicklung der Weltwirtschaft erwartet die Bank 2013 einen leichten Anstieg der Wachstumsrate von 2,5% auf 2,6%. 2014 sollte das Wachstum auf 3,2% ansteigen. Die Abschwächung des Weltwirtschaftswachstums hatte ihren Grund vor allem in der Wachstumsverlangsamung in den Industrieländern. Für die Industrieländer erwartet die Bank 2013 ein moderates Wachstum von 1,0% mit einem leichten Anstieg auf 1,6% in 2014. Insgesamt erwartet die Bank weiterhin erhebliche Unterschiede zwischen den einzelnen Weltregionen. In der Eurozone erwartet die Bank eine leichte Rezession (die Wachstumsvorhersagen der Bank liegen bei -0,6% und -0,4% für 2013 und 2014). Die anhaltende Staatsschuldenkrise sowie die hohe Verschuldung im Privatsektor in den europäischen Peripheriestaaten werden hierfür als Ursachen gesehen. Es wird erwartet, dass die EZB auch weiterhin stabilisierend in die Märkte eingreifen und in Abhängigkeit von der weiteren wirtschaftlichen Entwicklung im Euroraum im 2. Quartal 2013 einen weiteren Zinsschritt vornehmen wird, dem ein voraussichtlich letzter Zinsschritt nach unten im Verlauf des zweiten Halbjahrs folgen könnte. Die Bank sieht es als wahrscheinlich an, dass Südeuropa bzw. Irland nicht schnell auf einen nachhaltigen gemeinsamen Fiskalpfad kommen werden. Falls die Kernländer in der Zukunft nicht mehr bereit sein sollten im größeren Ausmaß die Peripherieländer zu unterstützen, könnte es zu einer Reihe von Schuldenumstrukturierungen (wahrscheinlich durch längere Laufzeiten und Zinsermäßigungen) kommen, jedoch wohl nicht vor 2015. Für den Bereich Optionsscheine und Zertifikate erwartet der Geschäftsbereich weiterhin starken Wettbewerb unter den führenden Emissionshäusern. Es werden weitere regulatorische Anforderungen erwartet, die fristgerecht in den Geschäftsbetrieb integriert werden müssen. Auf Grund der Prognosen der einzelnen Geschäftsbereiche und eines restriktiven Kostenmanagements rechnet die Bank für die Geschäftsjahre 2013 und 2014 weiterhin mit einem positiven Gesamtergebnis.

Abschnitt D – Risiken
D.2	Zentrale Angaben zu den zentralen Risiken, die dem Emittenten eigen sind.	Risiko der ausbleibenden oder eingeschränkten Preisstellung durch den Emittenten Sollte der Emittent seine freiwillige Absicht, Ankaufs- und Verkaufspreise zu stellen, einschränken oder ganz aufgeben, besteht die Gefahr, sofern niemand sonst Kurse für die Zertifikate stellt, dass Anleger die Endfälligkeit der Zertifikate abwarten oder, sofern eine vorzeitige Ausübung möglich ist, das Zertifikatsrecht ausüben müssen. Liquiditätsrisiko trotz Beherrschungs- und Ergebnisabführungsvertrag Der Emittent könnte trotz des Beherrschungs- und Ergebnisabführungsvertrags seine Verpflichtungen aus den Wertpapieren auch dann nicht erfüllen, wenn im Falle eines Bilanzverlustes des Emittenten die direkte Muttergesellschaft zwar diesen Verlust übernehmen müsste, sie aber aufgrund eigener Liquiditätsschwierigkeiten oder Überschuldung nicht in der Lage oder willens ist, diese vertragliche Verpflichtung zu erfüllen. Vermittlung von Geschäften für andere Konzerngesellschaften und Arbeitsteilung im Konzern der Citigroup Die überwiegende Mehrheit der Provisionserträge des Emittenten sind Erträge aus dem Transfer-Pricing aus Vermittlungsgeschäften mit verbundenen Unternehmen. Die aus dem Leistungsaustausch mit den einzelnen Konzerngesellschaften entstehenden Kosten des Emittenten werden im Rahmen bestehender Verträge durch Verrechnungspreise (Transfer Pricing) erstattet. Hierbei werden die Kosten und Erträge, insbesondere Provisionserträge für die im Rahmen der Sales-

Hierbei besteht in allen Bereichen eine enge Zusammenarbeit im Wesentlichen mit der Citigroup Global Markets Limited, London sowie der Citibank, N.A., London. Sollte im Konzern der Citigroup eine neue Aufteilung der betreffenden Aufgaben auf andere Unternehmen des Konzerns entschieden werden, könnte der Emittent eine wesentliche Ertragsquelle verlieren. Risiken im Kreditgeschäft Das Kreditportfolio des Emittenten ist überwiegend von internationalen Kunden mit "investment grade" Bonität der Industrie- und Finanzdienstleistungsbranche geprägt. Kreditausfälle konnten aufgrund dieser Geschäftspolitik in den vergangenen Jahren vermieden werden. Das Kreditportfolio konzentriert sich wesentlich auf eine überschaubare Anzahl von Kreditnehmereinheiten. Sollten einzelne, wichtige Kreditnehmer des Emittenten ihren Verpflichtungen nicht nachkommen, ist daher grundsätzlich eine erhebliche Erhöhung der Risikovorsorge denkbar bzw. Kreditausfälle möglich. Zinsänderungsrisiko Die Beurteilung und Steuerung des Zinsänderungsrisikos des Emittenten erfolgt im Bereich Risk-Treasury. Zinsänderungsrisiken des Emittenten können im mittel- und langfristigen Bereich in Wertpapierpositionen des Liquiditätsbestandes entstehen, falls diese nicht durch Absicherungsgeschäfte in Form von Zinstauschvereinbarungen abgesichert wurden. Gleiches gilt für mittel- und langfristige Kredite, die der Emittent gewährt. Bei einer nicht zeitnahen und unsensitiven Zinsüberwachung und der sich daraus ergebenden Gefahr, Zinsrisiken nicht frühzeitig gegenzusteuern, kann sich ein wesentliches Zinsänderungsrisiko ergeben. Operationelles Risiko Der Emittent hat mehrere für die ordnungsmäßige Führung und Steuerung seiner Geschäfte und der daraus erwachsenden Risiken wesentliche Bereiche an andere Unternehmen innerhalb und außerhalb des Citigroup-Konzerns ausgelagert. Sollten die Unternehmen, an die diese Bereiche ausgelagert wurden, ihren vertraglichen Verpflichtungen nicht oder nicht fristgerecht nachkommen, kann auch die Fähigkeit des Emittenten zur fristgemäßen Erfüllung seiner Verpflichtungen unter den von ihm emittierten Wertpapieren beeinträchtigt werden. Steuerliche Risiken Die dem Emittenten erteilten Steuerbescheide stehen regelmäßig unter dem Vorbehalt der Nachprüfung durch eine steuerliche Außenprüfung oder der Entscheidung einzelner Fragestellungen durch einschlägige Gerichte. Dies ist ein übliches Verfahren, bei dem im Rahmen einer Steuerprüfung oder nach einer allgemeinen Entscheidung durch ein Finanzgericht noch Jahre nach dem Steuerbescheid eine Steuernachforderung durch die Finanzbehörden erhoben werden kann. Allgemeine Betriebsrisiken <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Abwicklungsrisiko Das Risiko der fehlerhaften Bearbeitung von Geschäftsvorfällen, bzw. der Ausführung von Transaktionen, die der Intention und Erwartung der Leitungsebene des Emittenten widersprechen. • Informationsrisiko Das Risiko, dass auf Informationen, die innerhalb oder außerhalb des Geschäftssitzes des Emittenten erstellt, erhalten, übermittelt oder gespeichert wurden, nicht mehr zugegriffen werden kann. Weiterhin können diese Informationen von schlechter Qualität sein, falsch gehandhabt oder unberechtigt angeeignet worden sein. Hier besteht das Risiko einer hohen Fluktuation, bzw. das Risiko, nicht genügend qualifiziertes Personal an den Emittenten binden zu können, darüber hinaus aber auch das Risiko, dass Mitarbeiter des Emittenten bewusst oder fahrlässig gegen gesetzte Regeln oder die Geschäftsethik des Hauses verstoßen. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Rechtsrisiken und aufsichtsrechtliche Risiken Unter Rechtsrisiken versteht der Emittent alle aus vertraglichen Vereinbarungen sowie aus rechtlichen Rahmenbedingungen resultierenden Risiken. Diese müssen einen Risikohinweis darauf enthalten, dass der Anleger seinen Kapitaleinsatz ganz oder teilweise verlieren könnte, sowie gegebenenfalls einen Hinweis darauf, dass die Haftung des Anlegers nicht auf den Wert seiner Anlage beschränkt ist, sowie eine Beschreibung der Umstände, unter denen es zu einer zusätzlichen Haftung kommen kann und welche finanziellen Folgen dies voraussichtlich nach sich zieht.	Allgemeine Risikofaktoren von Zertifikaten Risiko eines Totalverlusts Die Zertifikate sind risikoreiche Instrumente der Kapitalanlage. Die Rechte, die die Zertifikate verbriefen, können unwiederbringlich an Wert verlieren, weil diese Zertifikate stets nur befristete Rechte verbriefen. Ausfallrisiko des Emittenten der Zertifikate Sofern der Emittent insolvent werden sollte, können Anleger einen Verlust bis hin zum Totalverlust erleiden. Die Zertifikate sind als Inhaberpapiere nicht vom Schutzbereich der Einlagensicherung umfasst. Risiko im Fall eines fehlenden oder nicht funktionierenden Sekundärmarkts in den Zertifikaten bzw. der eingeschränkten Verfügbarkeit des elektronischen Handelssystems des Emittenten Anleger sollten nicht darauf vertrauen, dass sie während der Laufzeit des Zertifikats zu einer bestimmten Zeit oder einem bestimmten Preis veräußern können. Vielmehr sollten Anleger davon ausgehen, dass eine Preisfindung an der Börse nur innerhalb der Spanne von Ankauks- und Verkaufskursen des Emittenten, sofern vorhanden, realisiert werden kann und dass ihre Börsenorder direkt oder indirekt gegen den Emittenten ausgeführt wird. Risiko im Zusammenhang mit der Einstellung des Sekundärmarkts unmittelbar vor Endfälligkeit Der Emittent bzw. die Börse stellen den Handel mit den Zertifikaten kurz vor deren Bewertungstag ein. Der Referenzpreis des Basiswerts am Bewertungstag und/oder der anwendbare Wechselkurs, die beide für die Bestimmung des Auszahlungsbetrages der Zertifikate maßgeblich sind, können sich allerdings zwischen dem letzten Börsenhandelstag und dem Fälligkeitstag noch ändern, was zu Ungunsten des Anlegers sein kann. Es besteht ein besonderes Risiko, dass eine Barriere erstmalig kurz vor der Feststellung des Referenzpreises am Bewertungstag erreicht, unterschritten oder überschritten wird, nachdem der Sekundärhandel bereits beendet ist. Währungsrisiko

I. RISK FACTORS OF CERTIFICATES

An investment in the Certificates is subject to certain risks. These may consist, among other things, of risks arising from the equities market, commodities market, bond market, foreign exchange market, interest rates, market volatility, economic and political risk factors, both individually and as a combination of these and other risk factors. The principal risk factors are presented briefly in the following. Potential purchasers should have experience with respect to transactions in instruments such as the Certificates or the respective underlying. Potential purchasers of the Certificates should understand the risks associated with an investment in the Certificates and thoroughly review the following points together with their legal, tax, financial and other advisers prior to making an investment decision: (i) the suitability of an investment in the Certificates in view of their own particular situation from a financial, tax or any other point of view, (ii) the information in the Tripartite Base Prospectus and in particular in this Securities Note and in the respective Final Terms (including all the risk factors contained therein with respect to the underlying) and (iii) the underlying. An investment in the Certificates should be made only after estimating the expected progression, occurrence and range of potential future movements in the price of the underlying, since the return on the respective investment depends, among other things, on fluctuations of that type. Since several risk factors may affect the value of the Certificates simultaneously, the effect of one individual risk factor cannot be predicted. In addition, several risk factors may act together in such a way that their combined effect on the Certificates can also not be predicted. No definitive statements can be made about the effects of a combination of risk factors on the value of the Certificates.

Potential purchasers of the Certificates should be clear that the Certificates may fall in value and the possibility of a total loss of the investment in the Certificates must also be taken into account. This risk exists irrespective of the financial strength of the Issuer. The shorter the remaining maturity of a Certificate is, the smaller the likelihood that any losses in value can be made up by the end of term. The characteristic option element incorporated in the Certificates results in an increasing loss of time value towards the end of the term of the Certificates. Potential purchasers must therefore be ready and able to absorb losses of the capital invested up to and including a total loss.

Potential purchasers are therefore expressly encouraged to familiarize themselves with the particular risk profile of the product type described in this Securities Note (indicated for the relevant Certificates in the Final Terms) and if necessary to obtain specialist advice.

1. General risk factors of Certificates

The general risk factors of Certificates described below apply to all Certificates included in this Securities Note.

Risk of total loss

The Certificates represent risky investment instruments. They entail the risk of losing the capital invested, up to and including a total loss. The rights represented by the Certificates may suffer an irrecoverable loss of value, because such Certificates only ever represent rights that are valid for a limited period.

Additional risks of loss due to transaction costs

In addition to the risk of total loss and whether or not such a loss occurs, there is also the possibility that any transaction costs charged by the custodian bank or the exchange used by investors to execute their buy or sell orders may affect the amount of the gain or loss. This may further increase the risk of incurring a total loss.

Additional risks of loss if loans are used

An increased risk arises if investors finance the purchase of Certificates with loans. In this event, if the market performs contrary to the investor's expectations, the investor will not only have to absorb any realized loss, but will also have to pay interest on the loan and repay the principal. Investors should therefore never assume that they will be able to meet the interest and principal payments on the loan out of profits earned on Certificates. Rather, they should carefully review their financial situation before purchasing the Certificates and taking out the loan to ensure that they would still be able to finance the interest payments and, should the case arise, repayment of principal at short notice in the eventuality that losses are incurred instead of the expected profits.

Risk relating to the absence of dividend payments

Certificates do not give the holder the right to receive dividend payments. Potential losses in value of the Certificates can therefore not be made up by dividend income from the Certificates.

Risk of changes in the price of the Certificates during the term

The price of the Certificates may change to the disadvantage of the investor during their term as a result of changes in market conditions (volatility, interest rates, the expected dividend from the underlying or one of its constituents where relevant, and other factors affecting the price incorporated into the Issuer's pricing model). The price determined by the Issuer on the basis of the pricing model applied may differ significantly from the assessment of other market participants. The price quoted by the Issuer, however, is the most important factor for the pricing of the Certificates; see also the section below headed "Risk of the absence or non-functioning of a secondary market in the Certificates".

Risk of default by the Issuer of the Certificates

The Certificates represent general, contractual and unsecured obligations of the Issuer that rank pari passu with each other and with all other unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of the Issuer. If the Issuer were to become insolvent, investors could suffer a loss up to and including a total loss, irrespective of any positive development of the other factors affecting value such as the underlying or the intensity of movements in the price (the "volatility") of the Certificates. As bearer securities, Certificates do not fall within the scope of the deposit protection arrangements.

Risk in the event of hedging transactions by the Issuer

In order to hedge its obligations arising from the Certificates, the Issuer enters into transactions on an ongoing basis in the underlying, in derivatives based on the underlying or other underlyings or in derivatives whose performance is closely correlated in the same direction to the price of the underlying or its volatility or which affect the price of the underlying. The same applies with respect to significant factors affecting the price where there is a Quanto hedging element. The purpose of such hedging transactions is generally to reinforce changes in the price of the underlying or its volatility, i.e. to use additional hedging positions to generate further increases in prices that are already rising or further declines in prices that are already falling. To the extent that such price movements in the underlying are reinforced, this also has a corresponding effect on the price of the Certificate and the outcome of exercising the certificate right.

The Issuer enters into hedging transactions on an ongoing basis, i.e. at any time. In particular, if one of the factors affecting the value changes, the Issuer will make appropriate adjustments to its counterpositions. The Issuer also adjusts its hedging positions in particular if it sells more Certificates (increasing its net position in that type of security) or repurchases Certificates (reducing its net position in that type of security). During the term of the Certificates, but especially when Open End Certificates are exercised, the Issuer will also unwind the hedging transactions entered into, on or shortly before the valuation date of the Certificates. The exercise of the Certificates close to the valuation time, in particular, can lead to the whole hedging position being unwound in a short period of time. Depending on the number of Certificates to be exercised (in the case of Open End Certificates), the prevailing market conditions and liquidity in the respective underlying, the possibility cannot be ruled out that as a result there may be a negative effect on the reference price of the underlying on exercise or on the valuation date and therefore also on the nature and level of the cash amount.

Risk of impossibility of conducting transactions to exclude or limit risk

Investors should not assume that they will be able to enter into transactions excluding or limiting the risks arising from the Certificates at all times during their term. It may not be possible to conduct such transactions or possible only at a price which results in a loss for the investor.

Risk of the absence or non-functioning of a secondary market in the Certificates

The Issuer intends to set bid and offered prices for the Certificates on a regular basis under normal market conditions. However, the Issuer does not accept any legal obligation to the certificate holders with respect to price-setting, neither to ensure that such prices are appropriate nor that they are actually generated. One of the greatest risks facing investors is that the Issuer limits or completely abandons its voluntary intention to set regular bid and offered prices for the Certificates. Investors should not assume that they will be able to sell a Certificate at a particular time or at a particular price during its term. In such a situation, the only course open to certificate holders in the worst case, if no other party sets prices for the Certificates, is to wait until the valuation date or, in the case of Open End Certificates, to exercise the Open End Certificates, with the loss of any time value together with the respective possibility of price rises or falls by that time.

The Issuer has voluntarily assumed an obligation, where applicable, with respect to certain stock exchanges to set bid and offered prices for certain order or securities volumes under acceptable market conditions. An obligation of this nature applies only with respect to the relevant stock exchange. Third parties, such as the certificate holders, cannot derive from this any obligation on the part of the Issuer to themselves. Furthermore, the obligation with respect to the stock exchange does not apply in exceptional circumstances such as disruptions of the Issuer's operations for technical reasons (e.g. disruption of telephone connections, technical breakdowns, power cuts) or special market situations (e.g. abnormal market movements in the underlying, special situations on the domestic market of the underlying or unusual factors affecting price-setting in the underlying security) or special market circumstances due to major disturbances of the economic and political situation (e.g. terrorist attacks, crash scenarios) or if the issue is temporarily sold out; in the latter case, only a buying price is required to be set and a selling price may not be quoted.

Investors should not assume that other market participants apart from the Issuer will set buying and selling prices for the Certificates. Liquidity in the Certificates is also not necessarily improved by listing the Certificates on a stock exchange. Investors should assume instead that pricing on the exchange can only take place within the spread of bid and offered prices quoted by the Issuer, if available, and that their buy or sell orders on the exchange will be executed with the Issuer as the direct or indirect counterparty.

The ability to sell the Certificates as far as possible at any time prior to the (final) valuation date is of great importance for investors. By far the most significant factor in this context is the voluntary intention of the Issuer to quote bid and offered prices.

It is intended to list the Certificates on the stock exchanges specified in the respective Final Terms. Even once a stock exchange listing has been obtained, there can be no guarantee that it will be maintained permanently. If the Certificates are not traded on the relevant exchanges on a permanent basis, purchases and sales of such Certificates will become considerably more difficult. If no trading or only limited trading in the Certificates takes place, it will also be more difficult for the investor to obtain a current valuation of the Certificates. This could have a further negative effect on the liquidity of the Certificates. Liquidity could also be reduced by offer and selling restrictions applying in particular countries. Transactions in Certificates that are not listed on a stock exchange may involve greater risks than trading in listed Certificates. In addition, the Issuer has the right, but not the obligation, to repurchase Certificates at any time in the open market, by a tender procedure or over-the-counter. Securities purchased in these ways may be held, resold or cancelled. If Certificates are held or cancelled by the Issuer, this may have a negative impact on the liquidity of the Certificates. A low level of liquidity in the market may in turn increase the volatility of certificate prices. If the secondary market for an issue of Open End Certificates becomes illiquid, the investor may be forced, in the absence of the ability to sell, to exercise the Open End Certificates in order to realize their value.

Risk relating to the calculation of the certificate prices

In contrast to most other securities for which market prices are generally set by supply and demand, the prices of Certificates in the secondary market are calculated on the basis of theoretical pricing models. For this purpose, the bid and offered prices for the Certificates are determined by the Issuer depending, among other things, on the mathematical value of the Certificates, the costs of hedging and accepting risk and the expected return. The spread between the bid and offered prices is also impacted, among other things, by the liquidity of the hedging instruments used to hedge against risk.

Other factors which may impact pricing in the secondary market include any margin included in the initial issue price, which can either be reflected over the term of the Certificates in the prices set or at the end of the term when the cash amount is calculated.

Some factors affecting price may not be deducted from the price equally over the entire term in the course of price-setting, but may in some circumstances be deducted at an earlier point in time at the discretion of the Issuer. These may include any margin included in the initial issue price as well as any income paid or expected from an underlying or from the constituents of an underlying that - depending on the structure of the Certificates - is collected by the Issuer. Anticipated dividends from an underlying or the constituents of an underlying may, where appropriate, be deducted in advance of the ex-dividend date for the underlying or the constituents of the underlying on the basis of the income expected for the entire term or a specific period. If the estimated dividend used by the Issuer for the purposes of valuing the Certificates, which may change during the term of the Certificates, differs from the dividend generally expected by the market or the dividend actually paid, this may also impact pricing in the secondary market. The prices set by the Issuer may therefore differ from the mathematical value of the Certificates or from the expected economic price that would have been formed on the respective date in a liquid market in which prices are set by a number of market-makers acting independently of each other.

The pricing models used by the Issuer are only theoretical representations of the events that occur in reality. In particular, the Issuer may and must adjust its pricing accordingly in the event of significant divergences between real events and the assumptions incorporated in the model. Nevertheless, the respective model employed by the Issuer remains of great importance because the Issuer generally sets the buying and selling prices for securities it issues as the sole market participant.

Risk of the restricted availability of the Issuer's electronic trading system

For the purpose of setting buying and selling prices in trading on and off the exchange, the ability to trade in the Certificates using an electronic trading system is very important for the Issuer and the certificate holders due to the large number of transactions in derivative securities conducted by the Issuer in the normal course of events. If the availability of the electronic trading system used by the Issuer could not be guaranteed or not completely guaranteed, this would have a corresponding effect on the tradability of the Certificates.

Risk in connection with the cessation of secondary trading immediately prior to final maturity

The Issuer and/or the exchange cease trading in the Certificates shortly before their valuation date. However, the reference price of the underlying on the valuation date and/or the applicable exchange rate, both of which are important for the purpose of determining the cash amount of the Certificates, may still change between the last exchange trading day and the maturity date, which may be to the disadvantage of the investor.

There is a particular risk that the price of the underlying may reach, fall below or exceed a barrier for the first time shortly before the reference price on the valuation date is determined and after trading in the secondary market has already finished.

Risk relating to the estimation of the price of the underlying if the Certificates are traded outside the trading hours of the underlying

If the Certificates are traded on the secondary market at times when the underlying is also being traded on its domestic market, the price of the underlying is incorporated into the calculation of the price of the Certificates as a known variable. In exceptional cases, however, the price of the underlying must be estimated if the related Certificates are traded at times when there is no trading on the domestic market of the underlying. In principle, this problem can arise for all Certificates irrespective of the times at which they are traded on an exchange, since the Issuer generally provides an off-exchange market for its Certificates, including at times when there is normally no trading in, for example, Central European shares or share indices on their domestic markets. The problem is particularly relevant, however, in the case of underlyings traded in time zones at a great distance from Central Europe, such as American or Japanese shares or share indices in those regions, as well as commodities or exchange rates which are generally traded around the clock. The same problem can also occur if secondary market trading in the Certificates is not possible due to a public holiday, while at the same time the underlying is being traded on its domestic market. If the Issuer estimates the price of the underlying in such circumstances, any such estimation even a few hours prior to the resumption of trading in the underlying on its domestic market may turn out to be accurate, too high or too low. The certificate prices set by the Issuer prior to the resumption of trading in the underlying on its domestic market may also prove to be too high or too low. To avoid this risk, investors should ensure that their buying and selling orders are only carried out at times when the underlying for their Certificates is being traded on its domestic market.

Risk in the event of low liquidity of the underlying

The lower the liquidity of the underlying or the greater the spread between bid and offered prices in the underlying or derivatives based on it, the higher the hedging costs of the Issuer of the Certificates tend to be. The Issuer will reflect hedging costs of this nature in its pricing for the Certificates and pass those costs on to the certificate holders in the buying and selling prices it quotes.

Risk relating to the size of the offer

The size of the offer specified in this Securities Note represents the maximum amount of securities offered, but does not indicate the volume of securities actually issued and deposited with the settlement system in each case. This depends on market conditions and may change during the term of the securities. Investors should therefore note that no conclusions can be drawn with respect to the liquidity of the securities in the secondary market on the basis of the size of offer indicated.

Risk relating to hedging transactions of purchasers of Certificates

Potential purchasers of Certificates who would like to hedge against market risks associated with an investment in the underlying by buying the Certificates offered, should be aware of the difficulties associated with this course of action including, among other things, the possibility that the price of the Certificates may not move in parallel with the development of the respective price of the underlying.

Risk relating to market disruption events

In the event of market disruption events with respect to the underlying occurring on the (final) valuation date or, in the case of Open End Certificates, on exercise, the Issuer has the right to postpone the valuation date for the reference price. This may result in an additional risk for investors if the price of the underlying performs negatively during the period of delay or, where applicable, if the exchange rate for conversion into the settlement currency moves in a direction that is unfavorable for the investor.

Market disruption events are the suspension or significant restriction of trading in the underlying, its constituents or specified derivatives based on the underlying, in each case on specified organized markets.

With respect to trading in Certificates, the suspension or significant restriction of the quotation of bid and offered prices by the Issuer, the quotation of prices only for smaller volumes, an increase in the spread between bid and offered prices or a combination of the above factors have the same effect as a market disruption event on the relevant valuation date.

The circumstances described above may temporarily or permanently restrict the ability to sell the Certificates, increase the cost of selling or introduce an additional price risk, especially if the price of the underlying performs negatively in such a situation.

Risk relating to political events or statutory prohibitions

If the Issuer or the relevant exercise agent, for example as a result of a moratorium imposed in connection with political events or of a statutory prohibition, is not in a position in fact or in law to fulfill its obligations arising from the Certificates in a legally permitted manner in Frankfurt am Main or, in the case of Open End Certificates, at the location of the relevant exercise agent, respectively, the due date for those obligations is postponed to the date on which it is once again possible in fact and in law for the Issuer or the relevant exercise agent to fulfill its obligations in Frankfurt am Main or at the location of the exercise agent, respectively. No rights are due to the certificate holders against the assets of the Issuer or the exercise agent located in Frankfurt am Main or elsewhere as a result of such a postponement of the due date.

If, in the case of Open End Certificates, one of the events described above affects only the exercise agent but not the Issuer, the Issuer will, at the request of the certificate holder, fulfill its obligations arising from the Open End Certificates in Frankfurt am Main instead of at the location of the exercise agent.

Risk of a material change in the certificate price due to an adjustment or the replacement of the underlying

If the underlying is replaced by a different underlying, for example in the event of a takeover or merger of a public corporation by or with another listed public corporation or the termination of the stock exchange listing of the old underlying or the termination of a share index with the subsequent replacement of the terminated index by another share index, the implied volatility of the new underlying estimated by the Issuer may be lower or higher than the volatility of the old underlying. A jump in volatility of this nature will have a negative effect on the certificate price if the implied volatility of the new underlying is lower than that of the old underlying. In addition, the price of the Certificate may change as a result of such a replacement not just at the final maturity but also during the term, because important factors on which the Issuer bases the pricing of the Certificate may have changed.

In particular, in the case of Long Certificates a less favorable outlook for the price of the new underlying caused by the economic change in the underlying may have a negative effect on the certificate price over the remainder of the term. In the case of Short Certificates, an improved outlook for the price of the new underlying arising as a result of the economic change in the underlying may have a negative effect on the certificate price over the remainder of the term.

If it is not possible to make an adjustment to the underlying to reflect the changes that have occurred, the Certificates will be redeemed early at their current fair market value. Investors are also exposed to the risk of loss in the event of early redemption at market value, if the fair market value of the Certificates at the relevant time is lower than the purchase price paid. Investors then no longer have the possibility of recovering the loss, at least not with that security.

Reinvestment risk in the event of ordinary or extraordinary termination of the Certificates by the Issuer

In the event of extraordinary termination or, as is possible in the case of Certificates with an indefinite term, of ordinary termination by the Issuer, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the termination amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest any termination amount paid by the Issuer in the event of termination on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased.

Risks relating to other factors affecting value such as money market interest rates, expected dividends and the Issuer's refinancing costs

In addition to the price of the underlying and its implied volatility as well as the remaining term of the Certificates, other factors affecting value are also reflected in the price of the Certificates. These include, among others, interest rates on the money market for the period of the remaining term, expected income from the Issuer's hedging transactions in or based on the underlying (such as dividend income in the case of shares) and the level of the Issuer's refinancing costs for entering into the relevant hedging transactions.

Even if the price of the underlying rises in the case of a Long Certificate or falls in the case of a Reverse Certificate, therefore, the value of the Certificate may decline as a result of the other factors affecting value. In general, the effect of the factors influencing the pricing of the Certificates declines over their term. However, the rate of this decline up to the (final) valuation date is not necessarily constant and may be temporarily faster or slower. Given the limited term of Certificates and the possibility of the termination of Open End Certificates by the Issuer, there is no guarantee that the price of these Certificates will recover in sufficient time. The shorter the remaining term, the greater the risk.

Specific risks in the case of Certificates with barriers

Risks in the case of Certificates with a barrier and a conditional minimum redemption amount

Where the Certificates have a barrier, investors are in principle exposed to the risk that a barrier event may occur and that in consequence they will lose the right to a minimum redemption amount defined in detail in the respective Final Terms (e.g. a bonus amount or a maximum amount). A barrier event consists -depending on the product type - of a price of the underlying specified in the Final Terms either (i) reaching or exceeding a barrier or (ii) reaching or falling below a barrier during an observation period, on an observation date or at an observation time, as provided in the respective Final Terms. If a barrier event has occurred, investors are essentially exposed, with respect to the price performance of the Certificates, to the risks of a direct investment in the underlying, which can also result in a total loss. These consequences apply even if the barrier was reached or passed as the result of a market disruption event. Once a barrier event has occurred, investors receive a cash amount at maturity equal to the reference price of the underlying on the valuation date multiplied by the multiplier, in the case of Certificates with no nominal amount, or to the product of the nominal amount and the quotient obtained by dividing the reference price on the valuation date by the strike, in the case of Certificates with a nominal amount, converted where relevant into the settlement currency. If so provided in the respective Final Terms, it is also possible in such cases that instead of a cash amount the investor will receive the underlying or a basket constituent in the number expressed by the multiplier.

Risk of a faster decline in price if the price of the underlying is close to the barrier

In general, the price of the Certificates moves in the same direction as the underlying (for details of special considerations for Certificates with reverse features, see the section headed "2. Product specific risk factors - Product No. 7: Specific risk factors of Reverse Bonus Certificates"). However, the prices do not necessarily move in parallel i.e. if, for example, the price of the underlying is close to a barrier and the Issuer expects that it is highly probable that the barrier will be breached, this assessment has a negative effect on the price of the Certificate and its price will record a proportionally greater fall than the price of the underlying. The magnitude of the price movements depends on many factors, in particular the volatility of the underlying and the remaining term of the relevant Certificates.

Price risk in connection with rising implied volatility

If the price of the underlying is close to a barrier, there is an increased risk that it will reach, fall below or exceed the barrier and that a barrier event will therefore occur, resulting in the investor losing the right to a minimum redemption amount. If the price of the underlying is close to the barrier and the implied volatility rises - while all other factors affecting the pricing of the Certificates, in particular the price of the underlying, remain unchanged - then the price of the Certificate will fall, because there is an increased likelihood that the a barrier event will occur. On the other hand, if the implied volatility falls, then the price of the Certificate will rise, since the probability of a barrier event occurring is reduced.

From the point of view of the investor, therefore, an increase in the implied volatility of the underlying represents a price risk if the price of the underlying is close to the barrier. The closer the barrier of a Certificate is to the current price of the underlying, the greater the proportion of the certificate price represented by the implied volatility and therefore the greater its sensitivity to fluctuations in volatility. The further the barrier of the Certificate is from the current price of the underlying, the lower the proportion of the certificate price represented by the implied volatility and therefore the lower its sensitivity to fluctuations in volatility, until it becomes negligible or zero.

Risk of jumps in the price of the underlying (gap risk)

The risk of jumps in the price of the underlying, for example between the close of trading on the previous day and the start of trading on the following trading day, that could trigger a barrier event is known as gap risk. If, for example, an index opens 2.5 per cent above or below the previous day's close and if a barrier event is triggered as a result, this leads to substantial price risks for the Issuer when adjusting the hedging transactions entered into for the Certificates sold. The Issuer can normally hedge its exposure only for price movements of the underlying up to the respective barrier. If a jump in price goes beyond that point, the resulting loss is borne by the Issuer since it may no longer be possible to unwind the hedging transactions if the price of the underlying has already jumped beyond the barrier or in an area between the strike and the barrier. The gap risks for all Certificates with barriers are normally estimated by the Issuer in advance and passed on to the purchasers of the Certificates through the prices set in the secondary market. For these Certificates one can therefore say that the certificate holders bear the gap risk indirectly. It may prove to be the case in hindsight that the estimates of the gap risks by the Issuer were too high or too low.

Additional risks relating to hedging transactions in the underlying for Certificates with barriers

In the case of Certificates with barriers, the possibility cannot be excluded that the Issuer's activities in setting up or unwinding hedging positions may reinforce movements in the price of the underlying for the Certificates to such an extent that a barrier event is triggered and the price of the Certificates falls faster as a result. The closer the price of the underlying approaches to a barrier-er and the higher the volatility of the underlying, the greater the risk of a barrier event occurring due to these factors.

Risk from the occurrence of a barrier event outside the trading hours in the secondary market

In the case of Certificates with a barrier feature, investors in principle face the risk that a barrier event may also occur outside the times when the Certificates are normally traded. This risk is especially relevant if the trading hours during which the Certificates are traded (by the Issuer or on a securities exchange on which the Certificates are listed) differ from the trading hours during which trading in the underlying normally takes place (the trading hours for the underlying normally correspond to the observation hours during which the barrier is observed).

The problem relates in particular to underlyings traded in time zones at a great distance from Central Europe, such as American or Japanese shares or share indices in those regions, as well as commodities or exchange rates which are generally traded around the clock. The same problem can occur if secondary market trading in the Certificates is not possible due to a public holiday, while at the same time the underlying is being traded on its domestic market.

In this connection, particular attention should be paid to the risk of a limited or non-existent secondary market in the Certificates. Please refer also to the section headed "Risk of the absence or non-functioning of a secondary market in the Certificates" under "1. General risk factors of Certificates" above.

If the prices of the Certificates move beyond the stop-loss limit during a period when the regular trading hours for the Certificates and the regular trading hours for the underlying are not the same, the setting of a stop-loss limit, beyond which the Certificates should be sold, will not necessarily help the investor to avoid the risk described here.

Exchange rate risk

If the underlying asset or assets on which the Certificates are based are denominated in a currency other than the settlement currency, investors may be exposed to the risk of suffering a loss as a result of the conversion of the currency of the underlying into the settlement currency or into the trading currency (in the event of a sale in the secondary market). This risk does not exist in relation to Certificates with Quanto hedging only with respect to the date of the final maturity.

Risk of Certificates with currency hedging (Quanto Certificates)

In the case of Certificates with currency hedging (Quanto Certificates), the rate at which the relevant reference price expressed in the currency of the underlying is converted into the settlement currency on the valuation date is specified in advance in the terms and conditions. However, the price of Certificates with Quanto currency hedging may also respond to exchange rate movements prior to the valuation time of the Certificates, even if the factors affecting their value remain otherwise unchanged. The effect can be seen if certificate holders wish to sell the Certificates on the secondary market, because the financial value of the Quanto hedging is subject to fluctuations during the term of the Certificates and is reflected in the calculation of certificate prices. As a result, a Certificate with Quanto hedging frequently becomes more expensive and in the event that the Certificate is sold during its term, the investor may be exposed to a corresponding exchange rate risk. If a Certificate has Quanto hedging, therefore, investors must assume that they will also pay for any costs of the Quanto hedging.

Risk in the event of currency disruption events

If it is not possible for the Issuer to convert the reference currency of the particular underlying for the Certificates into the settlement currency and a currency disruption event therefore exists, the Issuer is entitled to terminate the Certificates and redeem them early at their market price. In the event of an early redemption at the market price, investors are exposed to a risk of loss if the fair market value at that time is lower than the price at which they purchased the Certificates.

The risk of a currency disruption event occurring applies particularly to Certificates whose underlying is based on financial instruments or the legal currency of emerging markets. This risk is primarily based on the fact that, in comparison with countries with larger and more liquid markets and stable political environments (e.g. countries of the European Union or the United States of America), there is a higher likelihood that sudden and unpredictable political or economic changes may occur, which could result in the imposition of restrictions on foreign investors such as, for example, the expropriation of assets, the nationalization of foreign bank deposits or the introduction of exchange controls.

Risks in the case of Certificates with a maximum redemption amount (cap or maximum amount)

In the case of Certificates with a cap or maximum amount, the cash amount is subject to a limit. If the reference price on the valuation date exceeds the price threshold (cap) specified at the time of issue, the investor does not participate in any further movement of the price of the underlying in the same direction. While the upside return for the investor if the price of the underlying moves higher is limited by the maximum amount, on the downside the investor bears the full risk of loss in the event that the price of the underlying moves in the opposite direction.

Risks in the case of Certificates with a participation factor

If the Certificates have a participation factor greater than one (1), then once the participation factor comes into operation, e.g. if a particular price threshold is exceeded, changes in the value of the underlying have a disproportionate effect on the value of the Certificates. If the features of the Certificates include a participation factor, investors are exposed to a particularly high level of risk since changes in the value of the underlying result in a 'leveraged', that is, disproportionate change in the value of the Certificates. This leverage effect can work in both directions depending on the terms and conditions of the Certificates. This means that it may operate to the disadvantage of the investor if price changes occur that are negative from the point of view of the investor and which are then leveraged. If the Certificates have a participation factor smaller than one (1), then the investor may only participate in a proportion of the movement in price of the underlying from a specified price of the underlying onwards, if the Certificates are structured accordingly. For this reason, once that price has been reached, the return that would have been obtained if the investor had bought the underlying directly instead of the Certificate would be higher than the potential return from the Certificate.

Risks in the case of Certificates with conditional physical delivery

In the case of Certificates for which physical delivery is specified as a possible method of redemption, the underlying is delivered within a number of banking days after the valuation date (subject to any technical delays outside the control of the Issuer), provided that the conditions for physical delivery stipulated in the Final Terms have been met. Investors bear the risk of movements in the price of the underlying until delivery actually takes place.

If the Certificates are redeemed by means of the delivery of a number of underlyings, investors do not receive a monetary amount at maturity but a right to the relevant underlyings which is transferable in each case in accordance with the conditions of the respective securities custodian system. Since investors are exposed in such cases to the specific issuer and securities risks attaching to the underlyings, investors should conduct their own review of the underlyings when purchasing the Certificates.

Furthermore, investors cannot assume that they will be able to sell the underlying at a specific price after the valuation date, in particular at a price equal to the capital amount paid by the investors for the Certificates. If the underlying is not sold it may nevertheless lose value or become completely worthless. In this event, investors are exposed to the risk of losing the entire capital used to purchase the Certificates (including the associated transaction costs).

Commissions and transaction costs that may be incurred on the sale of the underlyings may have an exceptionally negative impact on costs, particularly in the case of a low contract value, and so reduce the returns from the underlying.

Potential investors should consult their own professional tax advisers with respect to the tax consequences of purchasing, holding or selling the underlyings. Only professional tax advisers are in a position to assess the particular situation of the investor in the appropriate manner.

The sale of the underlyings requires the presence of market participants who are prepared to buy the underlyings at the relevant time. If there are no market participants prepared to buy the underlyings, it may not be possible to realize their value. The issue does not give rise to any obligation to the holders of the underlyings on the part of the Issuer to create a balanced market for the underlyings and/or to repurchase the underlyings.

If it is not possible to deliver the underlying, the Issuer has the right, instead of delivering the underlying, to pay a fair market price for the underlying.

Corrections, changes, or amendments to the terms and conditions may be detrimental to the certificate holders

Investors should note that the Issuer has the right in certain cases specified in more detail in the terms and conditions to correct, change, or amend provisions in the terms and conditions, and the correction, change, or amendment of a provision in the terms and conditions may, if applicable, be detrimental for the investor compared to the originally certified provision, i.e. that information or provisions may be affected by the correction, change, or amendment, which are part of the factors determining the price of the Certificates.

If due to the correction, change, or amendment of the provision the content or scope of the Issuer's performance obligations is changed in an unforeseeable and detrimental manner for the investor, the investor has the right to terminate the Certificates within a period specified in more detail in the terms and conditions. The investor does not have a termination right, if the correction, change, or amendment was foreseeable or is not disadvantageous for it.

If a correction, change, or amendment is out of the question, the Issuer has the right to terminate the Certificates without undue delay, if the preconditions for a contestation in the sense of Section 119 et seq. of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, "BGB") are fulfilled vis-à-vis the certificate holders. Individual certificate holders are also entitled to a termination right under these conditions. The termination amount to be paid in the case of a termination generally corresponds to the market price of a Certificate and the terms and conditions contain detailed rules for its determination. In order to reduce the effects of any price fluctuations immediately prior to the termination date on the determination of the termination amount, the market price generally corresponds to the arithmetic mean of the spot prices (Kassakurse), which were published at the securities exchange where the Certificates are listed on a certain number of banking days immediately preceding the termination date. Calculating the average is disadvantageous for the certificate holder, if the spot price on the banking day prior to the termination date is higher than the arithmetic mean. The investor may furthermore demand from the Issuer, subject to the conditions specified in the terms and conditions, the difference between the purchase price paid by the investor when acquiring the Certificates and a lower market price in addition, to the extent that this is documented by the certificate holder. Investors should furthermore note that they bear the reinvestment risk in the case of a termination.

Risk of the deduction of US withholding tax

Pursuant to sections 1471 to 1474 of the US Internal Revenue Code as amended together with the regulations issued under those sections (Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act, "FATCA"), the Issuer could be required in certain circumstances to pay US withholding tax of 30 per cent on all or part of payments with respect to capital or interest on securities that are treated as pass-thru payments to foreign banks, unless the foreign bank as the recipient of the payments complies with the applicable FATCA reporting requirements. At the date of this Securities Note, it is expected that such a withholding tax will only apply to payments on or after 1 January 2017.

If, in connection with the FATCA withholding tax, an amount were required to be deducted or withheld from payments of interest or capital or other payments on the securities as the result of non-compliance with FATCA, neither the Issuer nor any paying agent or any other person would be required under the terms and conditions of the Certificates to compensate investors for the deduction or withholding of such an amount by making additional payments.

2. Product specific risk factors

The product specific risk factors below apply to the Certificates only where this is indicated in the respective Final Terms. The following sections distinguish between different types of Certificate.

Product No. 1: Specific risk factors of Bonus or Capped Bonus or Bonus Pro or Capped Bonus Pro Certificates

If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

In the case of Bonus Certificates with physical delivery, if the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time and, in the case of Capped Bonus Certificates, if the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be lower than the cap, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier. The market value of the underlying may be lower than the purchase price of the Certificate. In this event investors will suffer a loss. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 2: Specific risk factors of Discount or Discount Plus or Discount Plus Pro Certificates

Specific risk in the case of Discount Certificates

If the relevant reference price does not exceed the cap, the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

In the case of Discount Certificates with physical delivery, if the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be lower than the cap, the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier, instead of the cash amount. The market value of the underlying may be lower than the purchase price of the Certificate. In this event investors will suffer a loss. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Specific risk in the case of Discount Plus or Discount Plus Pro Certificates

If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms) and if the relevant reference price of the underlying does not exceed the cap, the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

In the case of Discount Plus or Discount Plus Pro Certificates with physical delivery, if the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms) and if the relevant reference price of the underlying does not exceed the cap, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier. The market value of the underlying may be lower than the purchase price of the Certificate. In this event investors will suffer a loss. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 3: Specific risk factors of TwinWin or Capped TwinWin Certificates

If the relevant reference price reaches or falls below the strike and the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

In the case of TwinWin or Capped Twin Win Certificates with physical delivery, if the relevant reference price reaches or falls below the strike and the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier. The market value of the underlying may be lower than the purchase price of the Certificate. In this event investors will suffer a loss. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 4: Specific risk factors of Outperformance Certificates

If the relevant reference price reaches or falls below the strike, the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 5: Specific risk factors of Sprint Certificates

If the relevant reference price reaches or falls below the strike, the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 6: Specific risk factors of Express Bonus Certificates

Express Bonus Certificates represent Certificates which may be redeemed early subject to certain conditions. If the reference price of the underlying on a valuation date prior to the final valuation date is equal to or higher than the redemption level allocated to that valuation date (referred to as an "early payout event"), the investor receives the corresponding early payout amount. If an early payout event occurs, the term of the Certificate ends early upon payment of the early payout amount.

In the event of early redemption, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the early payout amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest the early payout amount on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased.

In the event of early redemption, the investor does not participate in any subsequent performance of the price of the underlying. In this case, the maximum expected return is limited by the difference between the purchase price paid for the Certificate and the respective early payout amount.

If an early payout event does not occur and the relevant reference price on the final valuation date is lower than the redemption level and the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the final valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 7: Specific risk factors of Reverse Bonus Certificates

In the case of Reverse Bonus Certificates, investors receive a cash amount on the maturity date, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificates are based, with investors participating in the reverse of the movement in price of the underlying. This means that investors in these Certificates participate positively in any negative price performance of the underlying, and negatively in any positive price performance (reverse participation). In other words: The lower the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date is, the higher the cash amount (subject to any cap). But the higher the reference price of the underlying on the valuation date is, the lower the cash amount. In the case of a proportional participation of 100 per cent in the performance of the price of the underlying, this means that if the price of the underlying rises by 100 per cent or more, no cash amount is payable on maturity and investors suffer a total loss. In addition, the potential return from these Certificates is subject to a fundamental limitation, since the negative performance of the underlying cannot exceed 100 per cent.

If the observation price equals or exceeds the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date exceeds the strike by 100 per cent or more.

Product No. 8: Specific risk factors of Tracker Certificates

Tracker Certificates are subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 9: Specific risk factors of Open End Tracker Certificates

Risk of the term being ended as a result of exercise by the certificate holder or termination by the Issuer

Open End Tracker Certificates are Certificates which do not have a defined term, in contrast to Certificates with a fixed term (known as Closed-End Certificates). In the case of Open End Tracker Certificates, however, there is a risk that the term may be ended unexpectedly. The term of the Certificates ends either with the effective exercise of the Certificates in accordance with the respective terms and conditions (in each case only with respect to the Certificates exercised effectively), or with a termination of all of the Certificates by the Issuer. The Certificates may be exercised by the certificate holders with effect as of particular exercise dates defined in the terms and conditions. The certificate holders' exercise right is subject to certain conditions of exercise defined in detail in the terms and conditions. For the purposes of calculating the relevant cash amount, the respective exercise date on which the preconditions for effective exercise have been met is deemed to be the valuation date.

The Issuer has the right to terminate all of the Certificates in a series in accordance with the terms and conditions. The certificate holders are given notice of any such termination of the Certificates in advance in accordance with the terms and conditions. For the purposes of calculating the relevant cash amount, the termination date specified in the notice is deemed to be the valuation date. In the light of the Issuer's termination right, investors should not assume that they will be able to exercise the Certificates with effect as of a particular exercise date.

The consequence of exercise by the certificate holder or termination by the Issuer is that the certificate holder only participates in the performance of the underlying up to the redemption or termination date. In such cases, it is not possible for the certificate holder to participate in any potential further performance of the underlying.

In the event of ordinary termination by the Issuer, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the termination amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest any termination amount paid by the Issuer in the event of termination on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased.

Risk of the unpredictability of the cash amount on exercise

In the event that the certificate rights are exercised, the proceeds of exercise cannot be predicted exactly, since the reference price of the underlying, which forms the basis for the calculation of the cash amount, is only determined when all the preconditions for exercise have been met. The longer the technical settlement for the exercise of the Certificates takes and the higher the volatility of the underlying is, the greater is the risk that the underlying will perform negatively between the time at which a certificate holder decides to exercise the Certificates and the date on which the reference price on exercise is determined. Furthermore, an additional loss may arise during the same period as a result of an unfavorable movement in exchange rates (see also the section headed "Exchange rate risk" under "General risk factors of Certificates").

Risk in the event that a management fee is applicable

The Issuer may charge a management fee during the term of the Certificate or on exercise by the certificate holder or on termination by the Issuer. Any such fee may reduce the cash amount or the relevant performance of the underlying in accordance with the level of the fee. The Issuer may be entitled to adjust the level of the management fee during the term of the Certificates.

In the worst case an investment in Open End Tracker Certificates may involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will in any event be the case if the relevant reference price of the underlying on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 10: Specific risk factors of Multi Bonus or Capped Multi Bonus or Multi Bonus Pro or Capped Multi Bonus Pro Certificates

If the observation price of a basket constituent equals or falls below the barrier allocated to the respective basket constituent at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the relevant basket constituent on the valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the relevant basket constituent on the valuation date amounts to zero.

Product No. 11: Specific risk factors of Multi Express Certificates

Multi Express Certificates represent Certificates which may be redeemed early subject to certain conditions. If the reference price of all the basket constituents on a valuation date prior to the final valuation date is equal to or higher than the redemption level allocated to that valuation date and to the respective basket constituent (referred to as an "early payout event"), the investor receives the corresponding early payout amount. If an early payout event occurs, the term of the Certificate ends early upon payment of the early payout amount.

In the event of early redemption, the investor bears the reinvestment risk with respect to the early payout amount. This means that the investor may only be able to reinvest the early payout amount on less favorable market terms than were available when the Certificate was purchased.

In the event of early redemption, the investor does not participate in any subsequent performance of the price of the underlying or of the basket constituents. In this case, the maximum expected return is limited by the difference between the purchase price paid for the Certificate and the respective early payout amount.

If an early payout event does not occur and the relevant reference price of at least one basket constituent on the final valuation date is lower than the redemption level allocated to that basket constituent and if the observation price of at least one basket constituent equals or falls below the barrier allocated to the respective basket constituent at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time (as specified in the respective Final Terms), the Certificate is subject to a risk of loss depending on the relevant reference price of the relevant basket constituent on the final valuation date. In the worst case this will involve the total loss of the capital invested. This will be the case if the relevant reference price of the relevant basket constituent on the valuation date amounts to zero.

3. Underlying specific risk factors

Risk in connection with indices as the underlying

In the case of Certificates based on indices, the level of the cash amount is dependent on the performance of the index. Risks attaching to the index therefore also represent risks attaching to the Certificates. The performance of the index depends in turn on the individual index constituents of which the respective index is composed. During the Certificates' term, however, their market value may also diverge from the performance of the index or the index constituents since, for example, the correlations, volatilities, level of interest rates and, e.g. in the case of performance indices, also the re-investment of dividends relating to the index constituents, in addition to other factors, may affect the price performance of the Certificates.

Where the DAX[®] (Performance Index) / X-DAX[®] forms the underlying for Certificates with a barrier feature, investors should note that the relevant price of the underlying for determining the barrier event includes both the prices of the DAX[®] (Performance Index) and also the prices of the X-DAX[®]. The period of time during which a barrier event may occur is therefore longer than in the case of Certificates with a barrier feature linked only to the DAX[®] (Performance Index). It should also be noted that, due to its event-driven method of calculation, the likelihood of sudden price movements and therefore the risk of a barrier event occurring is higher in the case of the X-DAX[®].

Risk in connection with exchange rates as the underlying

Exchange rates express the relationship between the value of a particular currency and that of another currency. In international foreign exchange trading, in which one particular currency is always traded against another, the currency being traded is known as the base currency, while the currency in which the price for the base currency is quoted is known as the quote currency. The most important currencies traded on the international foreign exchange markets are the US dollar (USD), the euro (EUR), Japanese yen (JPY), Swiss francs (CHF) and the British pound sterling (GBP). As an example, therefore, an exchange rate of "EUR/USD 1.2575" means that 1.2575 US dollars must be paid for the purchase of one euro. A rise in this rate of exchange therefore indicates that the euro has risen against the US dollar. On the other hand, a rate of exchange of "USD/EUR 0.8245" shows that 0.8245 euros must be paid for the purchase of one US dollar. A rise in this rate of exchange therefore means that the US dollar has risen against the euro.

Exchange rates are subject to an extremely wide range of influencing factors. Examples which it is relevant to mention here include supply and demand for currencies on the international foreign exchange markets, the rate of inflation in the particular country, differences in interest rates compared with other countries, the assessment of the performance of the respective economy, the global political situation, the convertibility of one currency into another, the security of a monetary investment in the respective currency and measures taken by governments and central banks (e.g. exchange controls and restrictions). In addition to these factors which are still capable of being assessed, there may be other factors for which an assessment is practically impossible e.g. factors of a psychological nature such as crises of confidence in the political leadership of a country or other matters of a speculative nature. These factors of a psychological nature can also have a significant influence on the value of the relevant currency.

Reference values for the underlying may be drawn from a wide variety of sources. On the one hand, these may be exchange rates derived from the interbank market, since the majority of international foreign exchange trading takes place between major banks. These rates are published on the pages of recognized financial information services (such as Reuters or Bloomberg). On the other hand, certain official exchange rates determined by central banks (such as the European Central Bank) may also be used as reference values. The reference values for particular Certificates are specified in the respective terms and conditions.

Risk in connection with commodities as the underlying

Raw materials and commodities are generally divided into three main categories: mineral commodities (such as oil, gas, aluminum and copper), agricultural products (such as wheat and corn) and precious metals (such as gold and silver). The majority of trading in raw materials and commodities takes place on specialized exchanges or directly between market participants (interbank trading) on a global basis in the form of OTC (over-the-counter, off-market) transactions using contracts that are for the most part standardized.

The price risks attaching to raw materials and commodities are frequently complex. The prices are subject to greater fluctuations (volatility) than in the case of other investment classes. In particular, commodities markets are less liquid than bond, currency and equity markets. Changes in supply and demand therefore have a more dramatic effect on prices and volatility, which means that investments in commodities are more complex and subject to greater risks.

The factors affecting the prices of commodities are numerous and complicated. As an illustration, some of the typical factors reflected in commodity prices are listed below.

a) Supply and demand

The planning and management required for the provision of commodities take up a great deal of time. As a result, there is limited room for maneuver in the supply of commodities and it is not always possible to adjust production rapidly to meet changes in demand. Demand for commodities may also vary between different regions. The transport costs for commodities in regions where they are needed also have an effect on prices. The cyclical behavior of some commodities, such as agricultural products that are produced at particular times of the year, can also result in substantial fluctuations in price.

b) Direct investment costs

Direct investments in commodities entail costs for storage, insurance and taxes. Furthermore, no interest or dividend payments are made for an investment in commodities. The total return on commodities is influenced by these factors.

c) Liquidity

Not all commodities markets are liquid and able to react quickly and to the extent required in response to changes in supply and demand. Since there is only a small number of participants in the commodities markets, a significant amount of speculative activity can have negative consequences and give rise to distortions in prices.

d) Weather and natural disasters

Unfavorable weather conditions can affect the supply of certain commodities for a whole year. The resulting severe restriction of supply can lead to significant and unpredictable movements in prices. The prices of agricultural products can also be affected by the spread of diseases and outbreaks of epidemics.

e) Political risks

It is frequently the case that commodities are produced in emerging countries to satisfy demand in industrial countries. The political and economic situation in emerging countries, however, is generally far less stable than in the industrial nations. Investors have a much higher exposure to the risk of rapid political changes and economic setbacks. Political crises may undermine investor confidence which in turn may be reflected in commodity prices. Military confrontations or conflicts may alter the balance of supply and demand for particular commodities. In addition, it is possible that industrial nations may impose an embargo on the export and import of commodities and services. This may be reflected directly or indirectly in the prices of commodities. Moreover, many commodity producers have joined forces in organizations or cartels with the aim of regulating supply and so affecting prices.

f) Taxation

Changes in tax rates and customs duties may have the effect of decreasing or increasing the profitability of commodities producers. To the extent that these costs are passed on to buyers, changes of this nature will affect the prices of the relevant commodities.

Risk in connection with funds as the underlying

In the case of Certificates based on funds, it should be noted that the performance of the fund is affected, among other things, by fees charged indirectly or directly to the fund assets (including remuneration for the management of the fund, normal bank charges for securities accounts, selling costs etc.). Falls in the price or value of the investments acquired by the fund are reflected in the price of the individual fund units and therefore in the price of the Certificates. If the fund invests in illiquid assets, significant losses may arise in the event that those assets are disposed of, particularly in the event of a sale subject to time pressure; those losses will be reflected in the value of the fund units and therefore in the value of the Certificates. There is also the possibility that a fund may be liquidated or wound up during the term of the Certificates, or that the authorization or registration of the fund may be revoked. In this event, the Issuer is entitled to make adjustments with respect to the Certificates, in accordance with the respective terms and conditions, and in particular to replace the respective fund with a different fund.

The performance of the fund is dependent on the performance of the investments made by the fund. The decision as to which investments to purchase is made by the investment manager of the fund in accordance with the fund's investment strategy. In practice, therefore, the performance of the fund is dependent to a great extent on the capability of the fund's investment manager and the investment strategy adopted. A change of investment manager and/or investment strategy may result in losses or the liquidation of the relevant fund. Even in the event of positive performance by funds with the same investment strategy, the fund serving as the underlying for the Certificates may perform negatively as a result of the decisions made by the fund's investment manager, which may be reflected in the negative performance of the Certificates.

Risk in connection with futures contracts as the underlying

a) General

Futures contracts are standardized forward transactions linked to financial instruments (such as shares, indices, interest rates or currencies), known as financial futures, or to commodities (such as precious metals, wheat or sugar), known as commodity futures.

A futures contract represents a contractual obligation to buy or sell a certain quantity of the respective subject of the contract at a predetermined date and at an agreed price. Futures contracts are traded on futures exchanges and are standardized for this purpose with respect to the contract size, the nature and quality of the subject of the contract and, if applicable, the place and date of delivery.

In general, there is a close correlation between the development of the price of an underlying on the cash market and on the corresponding futures market. However, futures contracts with the same underlying are traded in principle at a premium or discount to the cash price for the underlying. This difference between the cash price and the futures price, referred to in futures exchange terminology as the "basis", is the result firstly of the inclusion of costs normally incurred in cash transactions (storage, delivery, insurance etc.) and of income normally associated with cash transactions (interest, dividends etc.), and secondly of the different valuation of general market factors by the cash market and by the futures market. Moreover, the liquidity of the cash market and the corresponding futures market may be significantly different, depending on the underlying.

Since the Certificates are linked to the quoted price of the underlying futures contracts specified in Table 2 of the annex to the issue specific conditions in the Final Terms, knowledge of the method of operation of forward transactions and of the factors affecting their valuation is necessary to enable an accurate assessment to be made of the risks associated with the purchase of these Certificates, in addition to knowledge about the market for the underlying on which the respective futures contract is based. If the underlying on which the futures contract is based is a commodity, the risk factors described for commodities must also be taken into account.

b) Rollover

Since futures contracts as the underlying for the Certificates have a specific expiry date in each case, in the case of Open End Certificates or if a specifically defined valuation date for the Certificates falls after the expiry date of the futures contract, the underlying is replaced by the Issuer in each case at a time specified in the terms and conditions by a futures contract which, except for an expiry date that is further in the future, has the same contract specifications as the original underlying futures contract ("Rollover").

For this purpose, on a rollover date defined in the terms and conditions, the Issuer will unwind the positions it has entered into by means of the relevant hedging transactions relating to the existing futures contract whose expiry date is coming up, and establish corresponding positions relating to a futures contract with identical features, but a longer maturity.

Once a rollover has been completed, the features of the Certificates (strike, barrier) are adjusted in accordance with a schedule defined in more detail in the terms and conditions.

Risk in connection with baskets as the underlying

(a) General

A basket as the underlying may be composed of one or several different basket constituents which may also include the underlyings specified in the Tripartite Base Prospectus and in particular in this Securities Note, i.e. indices, shares, commodities, funds, exchange rates or futures contracts. The individual basket constituents may be equally weighted or may have different weighting factors. The lower the weighting of an individual basket constituent is, the lower the effect its price performance has on the price performance of the basket as a whole. The respective value of the basket is calculated on the basis of the prices of the individual basket constituents and of the weighting factor allocated to the particular basket constituent. In certain circumstances, the Issuer may be entitled to make subsequent corrections to the composition of the basket specified at the time of issue of the Certificates. If the Issuer has been given authorization to do this, investors cannot assume that the composition of the basket will remain the same throughout the term of the Certificates.

The cash amount of Certificates linked to a basket may also be linked to the difference between the performance of various basket constituents. In this event, investors are exposed to risk of losing part or all of their investment in the Certificates, even if one basket constituent performs well.

(b) Correlation risk

The features of Certificates with several basket constituents as the underlying generally include several barriers, namely a barrier for each basket constituent. This results in the special situation whereby the performance of the Certificates during their term and/or the redemption amount at maturity are based on the performance of several basket constituents. Investors should bear in mind that if even one basket constituent breaches its respective barrier, this is generally sufficient to trigger a barrier event. It should therefore be noted that the number and the correlation of the basket constituents have a significant influence on the probability of a barrier event occurring. For example, a high number or a low correlation of the basket constituents increases the risk that a barrier event will occur. If a barrier event occurs, investors are essentially exposed, with respect to the price performance of the Certificates, to the risks of a direct investment in the relevant basket constituent, which can also result in a total loss.

The term "correlation of the basket constituents" refers – expressed simply – to the extent to which the performance of the basket constituents depends on each other. Correlation is expressed as a value between '-1' to '+1', where '+1', i.e. a high positive correlation, means that the prices of the basket constituents always move in the same direction. If the correlation is '-1', i.e. a high negative correlation, the prices of the basket constituents always move in exactly opposite directions. A correlation of '0' signifies that it is not possible to make a statement on the connection between the performances of the individual basket constituents. If, for example, the basket constituents are shares and all of the shares relate to the same sector and the same country, it can generally be assumed that they will have a high positive correlation. But the correlation may fall if, for example, the corporations whose shares comprise the basket constituents are competing fiercely for market shares and the same sales markets.

4. Risk of conflicts of interest

The Issuer, its affiliated companies (if any) or other companies belonging to Citigroup, Inc. or affiliated to it generally act as the calculation agent for the Certificates. This activity can lead to conflicts of interest since the responsibilities of the calculation agent include making certain determinations and decisions which could have a negative effect on the price of the Certificates or the level of the cash amount.

The Issuer, its affiliated companies (if any) or other companies belonging to Citigroup, Inc. or affiliated to it may actively engage in trading transactions in the underlying, other instruments or derivatives, stock exchange options or stock exchange forward contracts linked to it, or may issue other securities and derivatives based on the underlying. The companies may also be involved in the acquisition of new shares or other securities of the underlying or, in the case of stock indices, of individual companies included in the index, or act as financial advisers to the entities referred to or work with them in the commercial banking business. The companies are required to fulfill their obligations arising in this connection irrespective of the consequences resulting for the certificate holders and, where necessary, to take actions they consider necessary or appropriate in order to protect themselves or safeguard their interests arising from these business relationships. The activities referred to above could lead to conflicts of interest and have a negative effect on the price of the underlying or securities linked to it such as the Certificates.

If the Issuer, companies affiliated to it or third parties appointed by it perform the function of index calculation agent and index sponsor with respect to indices forming the underlying for Certificates issued under this Base Prospectus and are therefore able to influence the value and the composition of the index, conflicts of interest between their function as issuer of the Certificates and their function as index calculation agent and index sponsor cannot be ruled out. In this connection, the Issuer or companies affiliated to it or third parties appointed by it will take actions and implement measures which they consider to be necessary or appropriate to safeguard their interests, but which could potentially have a negative effect on the value of the Certificates.

The Issuer, its affiliated companies (if any) or other companies belonging to Citigroup, Inc. or affiliated to it may issue additional derivative securities based on the respective underlying or constituents of the underlying, including securities whose features are the same as or similar to those of the Certificates. The introduction of such products that compete with the Certificates may impact the price of the underlying or the constituents of the underlying and thus also the price of the Certificates.

The Issuer, its affiliated companies (if any) or other companies belonging to Citigroup, Inc. or affiliated to it may receive non-public information relating to the underlying or the constituents of the underlying, but are under no obligation to pass on such information to the certificate holders. Furthermore, companies belonging to Citigroup, Inc. or affiliated to it may publish research reports relating to the underlying or constituents of the underlying. These types of activities may entail certain conflicts of interest and affect the price of the Certificates.

If the Issuer allows sales commissions in respect of the Certificates, investors should note that conflicts of interest to the disadvantage of the investor may arise from the payment of sales commissions to distributors, such that distributors may recommend Certificates yielding a higher fee because of the sales commission incentive. Investors should therefore always seek advice from their bank, financial advisor or other parties about the existence of possible conflicts of interest before purchasing Certificates.

II. DESCRIPTION OF THE CERTIFICATES

The description of the Certificates contains a description of the features of the Certificates which are regulated in legally binding terms in the Terms and Conditions. In particular, the Terms and Conditions include definitions of the terms used in the description of the Certificates. It should be noted with regard to the Certificate Holders' Certificate Right that the Terms and Conditions alone are binding.

Resolution forming the basis for new issues

The preparation of the Securities Note and of the Tripartite Base Prospectus as well as the issue of Certificates in that context have been authorized in the proper manner by the relevant bodies of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG, Frankfurt am Main. The preparation of the Securities Note and of the Tripartite Base Prospectus of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG, Frankfurt am Main forms part of the ordinary course of business, with the result that no separate resolution of the Executive Board is required.

Listing and trading

An application may be made for the Certificates to be admitted to trading on one or more stock exchanges or multilateral trading systems or markets, including the Frankfurt stock exchange and/or the Stuttgart stock exchange. Certificates that are not admitted to trading or listed on any market may also be issued.

The applicable Final Terms specify whether the respective Certificates have been admitted to trading or listed and, where relevant, specify the relevant stock exchanges and/or multilateral trading systems and/or markets. The Final Terms also contain information about any public offer that may be associated with the issue of the Certificates.

In the event that the Certificates are admitted to trading and/or listed, the relevant Final Terms will specify the minimum trading volume, where applicable.

Offer method, offeror and issue date of the Certificates

The Final Terms provide information on the details of offer methods, offerors and issue dates (specified as "Issue Date" in the Base Prospectus and in the Final Terms) that have been specified for the Certificates:

The Certificates will be offered over-the-counter on a continuous basis in one or several series that may have different features and/or the Certificates will be offered during a subscription period in one or several series that may have different features at a fixed price plus an issuing premium. The Issuer may expressly reserve the right to close the subscription period early and to scale subscriptions received or to make partial allocations or non-allocations. The subscriber will not receive a separate notification of their allocation other than the record in their securities account. When the respective subscription period has ended, the Certificates will be sold over-the-counter.

The Certificates will be offered initially either at the start of over-the-counter selling or at the beginning of the subscription period.

Restrictions on the free transferability of the securities

The Certificates are transferred as participatory interests in the respective Global Bonds pursuant to the rules of the central securities depository, and, outside the clearing territory of the central securities depository, of the further securities depositories or other foreign securities depositories or custodians. The selling restrictions set out in Section "VI. Selling restrictions" must be observed when the Certificates are purchased, transferred or exercised.

Exercise Dates, Redemption Date, (Final) Valuation Date

With respect to Open End Certificates, dates on which the exercise of the Certificates is possible ("Exercise Dates") are governed by No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions in conjunction with Table 1 of the annex to the Issue Specific Conditions as completed by the respective Final Terms. The Redemption Date is the date on which the preconditions for effective exercise are complied with by the Certificate Holder.

In the case of Open End Certificates, the respective redemption date is deemed to be the valuation date in respect of the Certificates exercised.

In the case of Certificates with a limited term, dates on which the exercise of the Certificates is possible ("Exercise Dates") are governed by No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions as completed by the respective Final Terms. In addition, the (final) valuation date of the Certificates is specified in Table 1 of the annex to the Issue Specific Conditions in the Final Terms to this Tripartite Base Prospectus and No. 2 of the Issue Specific Conditions as completed by the respective Final Terms. Express Certificates have several valuation dates, although if an early payout event, defined in detail in the Final Terms, occurs on a valuation date, the term of the Certificates ends early with the payment of an early payout amount.

Cash amount, reference price on exercise, reference rate for currency conversion

Details of the cash amount that may be payable on the exercise of the Certificates and the applicable reference price on exercise and reference rate for currency conversion (unless the reference price is already expressed in the currency of the cash amount) are contained in No. 2 and No. 3 of the Issue Specific Conditions as completed by the respective Final Terms.

Regular income from the securities

The Certificates do not represent an entitlement to regular income such as interest or dividend payments.

Open End Certificates represent only an exercise right that investors may exercise with effect as of specific valuation dates. Please refer also to the information provided above under "Description of the rights, procedures for exercise, consequences of market disruption events".

Alternatively, the investor may sell the Certificates, but this is not governed by the Terms and Conditions; in particular, the Issuer has no obligation to the investor arising from the Certificates to repurchase the Certificates. Please refer also, particularly with regard to the method of calculation, to "Risk of the absence or non-functioning of a secondary market in the Certificates" in Section "I. Risk factors of Certificates".

Issue price, price calculation and costs and taxes on purchase

The initial issue price is specified in the relevant Final Terms.

Both the initial issue price and the bid and offered prices quoted by the Issuer during the term of the Certificates are calculated using theoretical pricing models. In this context, the bid and offered prices for the Certificates are determined on the basis, among other things, of the mathematical value of the Certificates, the costs of hedging and accepting risk and the expected return. Please see also the information provided under "Risk relating to the calculation of the Certificate prices" and "4. Risk of conflicts of interest", both in Section "I. Risk factors of Certificates".

Details of the nature and amount of specific costs or taxes and payments of sales commissions in connection with the purchase of the Certificates are set out, where applicable, in the relevant Final Terms.

Interests of natural and legal persons involved in the issue

Natural and legal persons appointed by the Issuer may be involved in the issue and the offer of the Certificates, e.g. as advisers, sales partners or market-makers, who may be pursuing their own interests which are opposed to the interests of the investors. This Securities Note contains a description of the potential conflicts of interest known to the Issuer at the date of the Securities Note under "4. Risk of conflicts of interest" in Section "I. Risk factors of Certificates". The Final Terms may also include a description of additional interests of third parties - including conflicts of interest - that are of material significance for the issue/offer.

Reasons for the offer

The reasons for the offer are making profit and/or hedging certain risks and the net proceeds from the issuance of Certificates presented in this Tripartite Base Prospectus will be used by the Issuer for its general business purposes.

Country-specific information and other selling information

The relevant Final Terms contain information with respect to any paying agents and central securities depositories as well as selling restrictions in the country or countries in which the offer of the Certificates is made.

2. Explanation of the mechanism of the Certificates

The possible mechanisms are described in the following. In the present case, the underlying may be a share or a security representing shares, a share index, an exchange rate, a commodity, a fund or a futures contract, or a basket consisting of these assets. In the case of baskets as the underlying, the term 'basket constituent' refers to a respective individual asset contained in the basket.

In the case of Certificates whose name includes the additional term "Pro", the barrier is not monitored over the entire term of the Certificates. The barrier is monitored for "Pro" Certificates either during an observation period which is shorter than the term, during several observation periods, on an observation date within the observation hours or at an observation time, as specified in the respective Final Terms.

Product No. 1: Description of the Bonus or Capped Bonus or Bonus Pro or Capped Bonus Pro Certificates

Description of the Bonus Certificates (with cash settlement)

In the case of Bonus Certificates, investors receive a cash amount on the maturity date, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificates are based.

a. If the observation price does not equal or fall below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at any observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency, but is at least equal to the bonus amount. The bonus amount for each Certificate is equal to the bonus level multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Description of the Bonus Certificates (with physical delivery)

In the case of Bonus Certificates, investors receive either the delivery of the underlying or a cash amount on the maturity date, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificates are based.

a. If the observation price does not equal or fall below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at any observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency, but is at least equal to the bonus amount. The bonus amount for each Certificate is equal to the bonus level multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier together with the payment of a fractional cash amount if fractions of the underlying cannot be delivered, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Description of the Capped Bonus Certificates (with cash settlement)

In the case of Bonus Certificates, investors receive a cash amount on the maturity date, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificates are based.

a. If the observation price does not equal or fall below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at any observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency, but is at least equal to the bonus amount and at most to the maximum cash amount. The bonus amount for each Certificate is equal to the bonus level multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency, but is at most equal to the maximum cash amount.

The maximum cash amount i.e. the highest amount for each Certificate is equal to the cap multiplied by the multiplier, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Description of the Capped Bonus Certificates (with physical delivery)

In the case of Bonus Certificates, investors receive either the delivery of the underlying or a cash amount on the maturity date, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificates are based.

a. If the observation price does not equal or fall below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at any observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency, but is at least equal to the bonus amount and at most to the maximum cash amount. The bonus amount for each Certificate is equal to the bonus level multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time and if the reference price on the valuation date does not exceed the cap, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier together with the payment of a fractional cash amount if fractions of the underlying cannot be delivered, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

c. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time and if the reference price on the valuation date reaches or exceeds the cap, the investor receives the maximum cash amount.

The maximum cash amount i.e. the highest amount for each Certificate is equal to the cap multiplied by the multiplier, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Product No. 2: Description of the Discount or Discount Plus or Discount Plus Pro Certificates

Description of the Discount Certificates (with cash settlement)

In the case of Discount Certificates, the initial issue price or selling price of the Certificate is generally lower during its term than the current market price of the underlying, after adjusting for the multiplier. On the maturity date investors receive a cash amount, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificate is based.

a. If the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be equal to or higher than the cap, the investor receives the maximum amount for each Certificate. The maximum amount for each Certificate is equal to the cap multiplied by the multiplier, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be lower than the cap, the investor receives for each Certificate the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Description of the Discount Certificates (with physical delivery)

In the case of Discount Certificates, the initial issue price or selling price of the Certificate is generally lower during its term than the current market price of the underlying, after adjusting for the multiplier. On the maturity date investors receive either the delivery of the underlying or a cash amount, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificate is based.

a. If the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be equal to or higher than the cap, the investor receives the maximum amount for each Certificate. The maximum amount for each Certificate is equal to the cap multiplied by the multiplier, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be lower than the cap, then instead of the cash amount the investor receives the underlying in the number expressed by the multiplier together with the payment of a fractional cash amount if fractions of the underlying cannot be delivered, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

Description of the Discount Plus Certificates (with cash settlement)

In the case of Discount Certificates, the initial issue price or selling price of the Certificate is generally lower during its term than the current market price of the underlying, after adjusting for the multiplier. On the maturity date investors receive a cash amount, the level of which depends on the performance of the price of the underlying asset on which the Certificate is based.

a. If the reference price on the valuation date is determined to be equal to or higher than the cap, the investor receives the maximum amount for each Certificate. The maximum amount for each Certificate is equal to the cap multiplied by the multiplier, converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

b. If the observation price does not equal or fall below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at any observation time, the cash amount for each Certificate is equal to the maximum amount.

c. If the observation price equals or falls below the barrier at any time during the observation period or on an observation date within the observation hours or at the observation time and if the reference price on the valuation date does not exceed the cap, the investor receives for each Certificate the reference price on the valuation date, multiplied by the multiplier and converted where relevant into the settlement currency.

Investors do not receive any regular income, such as interest, during the term of the Certificates. In addition, investors are not entitled to any rights with respect to or arising from the underlying (such as voting rights or dividends).

- (1) The features of the Certificates that are relevant for the calculation of the Cash Amount shall be subject to adjustment in accordance with the provisions below (referred to in the following as "Adjustments").
- (2) Changes in the calculation [of the Underlying][of a Basket Constituent] (including corrections) or in the composition or weighting of the prices or securities on the basis of which the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] is calculated shall not result in an Adjustment of the Certificate Right unless, in the reasonable discretion of the Issuer, as a result of a change (including a correction) the new relevant concept and the calculation of the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] are no longer comparable with the previous relevant concept or relevant calculation of the [Underlying][Basket Constituent]. This shall apply in particular if a change of whatever nature results in a material change in the value of the Index even though the prices of the individual securities included in the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] and their weighting remain the same. The Certificate Right may also be adjusted in the event that [the Underlying][a Basket Constituent] is discontinued and/or replaced by another Index. The Issuer shall adjust the Certificate Right in its reasonable discretion based on the most recently calculated price with the objective of preserving the financial value of the Certificates, and shall determine the date on which the adjusted Certificate Right shall first apply, taking account of the date of the change. Notice shall be given of the adjusted Certificate Right and the date on which it first applies in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions.
- (3) If [the Index][an Underlying][a Basket Constituent] is discontinued at any time and/or replaced by another Index, the Issuer in its reasonable discretion shall specify the other Index as the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] on which the Certificate Right will be based in future (the ["Successor Index"]["Successor Basket Constituent"]), where necessary adjusting the Certificate Right in accordance with paragraph (4) of this No. 6. - (4) Changes in the method of calculating the Reference Price or other prices for [the Underlying][a Basket Constituent] that are relevant in accordance with these Terms and Conditions, including a change in the Trading Days or Trading Hours relevant for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] and including any subsequent correction by the Relevant Index Calculator of the Reference Price or another price of the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] that is relevant in accordance with the Terms and Conditions, shall entitle the Issuer to adjust the Certificate Right accordingly in its reasonable discretion. The Issuer shall determine the date on which the adjusted Certificate Right shall first apply, taking account of the date of the change. Notice shall be given of the adjusted Certificate Right and the date on which it first applies in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions.
- (5) In the event that the Reference Price or other prices that are relevant for the [the Underlying][a Basket Constituent] in accordance with these Terms and Conditions are no longer calculated and published by the [respective] Relevant Index Calculator, but by another person, company or institution which the Issuer considers suitable in its reasonable discretion (the "New Relevant Index Calculator"), then the Cash Amount shall be calculated on the basis of the corresponding prices for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] calculated and published by the New Relevant Index Calculator. In addition, all references in these Terms and Conditions to the Relevant Index Calculator shall then be deemed, insofar as the context allows, to be references to the New Relevant Index Calculator. Market Disruption Events

- (1) If a Market Disruption Event in accordance with paragraph (2) of this No. 7 exists on the [Final] Valuation Date, then the [Final] Valuation Date shall be postponed to the next following day which fulfills the criteria for a [Final] Valuation Date with respect to [the] [Underlying] [relevant Basket Constituent] [all Basket Constituents] in accordance with No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions and on which a Market Disruption Event no longer exists. The Issuer shall endeavor to give notice to the Certificate Holders without delay in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions that a Market Disruption Event has occurred. However, there shall be no obligation to give notice. If, as a result of the provisions of this paragraph, the [Final] Valuation Date has been postponed for [five (5)][●] consecutive days that fulfill the criteria for a [Final] Valuation Date in accordance with No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions and if the Market Disruption Event continues to exist on that day as well, then that day shall be deemed to be the relevant [Final] Valuation Date with respect to [the] [Underlying] [relevant Basket Constituent] [all Basket Constituents] and the Issuer shall determine the Cash Amount in its reasonable discretion taking account of the market conditions prevailing with respect to [the] [Underlying] [relevant Basket Constituent] [all Basket Constituents] on any such deemed [Final] Valuation Date.

 - (iii) the suspension or non-calculation of [the Index][[the][a] Basket Constituent] as the result of a decision by the Relevant Index Calculator, if that suspension, restriction or non-calculation occurs or exists in the last half-hour before the calculation of the closing price of the [Index][Basket Constituent] or of the assets on which the [Index][Basket Constituent] is based that would normally take place and is material, in the reasonable discretion of the Issuer, for the fulfillment of the obligations arising from the Certificates. A change in the Trading Days or Trading Hours on or during which trading takes place or the [Index][Basket Constituent] is calculated does not constitute a Market Disruption Event, provided that the change takes place as the result of a previously announced change in the trading regulations by the relevant exchange or relevant market or in the rules for calculating the Index by the Relevant Index Calculator.]

No. 6 Adjustments

[in the case of mixed baskets, insert: with respect to shares or securities representing shares as Basket Constituents:]

- (1) If an Adjustment Event pursuant to paragraph (2) of this No. 6 occurs, the Issuer shall determine whether the relevant Adjustment Event has a diluting, concentrative or other effect on the computed value of [the Underlying][the][a][Basket Constituent] and, if such is the case, shall if necessary make a corresponding Adjustment to the affected features of the Certificates, which in its reasonable discretion is appropriate in order to take account of the diluting, concentrative or other effect and to leave the Certificate Holders as far as possible in the same position in financial terms as they were in before the Adjustment Event took effect. The Adjustments may relate, among other things, to the Strike, the Multiplier or other relevant features, as well as to the replacement of [the Underlying][the Basket Constituent in turn] by a basket of shares or other assets or, in the event of a merger, by an adjusted number of shares of the absorbing or newly formed company and, where relevant, the specification of a different exchange as the Relevant Exchange and/or a different currency as the Reference Currency. The Issuer may (but is not obliged to) base the determination of this appropriate Adjustment on the adjustment made in response to the relevant Adjustment Event by a futures exchange, on which options or futures contracts on the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] are traded at the time of the Adjustment Event, in respect of options or futures contracts on the relevant share traded on that futures exchange.

- (2) An "Adjustment Event" shall be:
- (a) the subdivision (stock split), combination (reverse stock split) or reclassification of the respective shares or the distribution of dividends in the form of bonus shares or stock dividends or a comparable issue;
 - (b) the increase in the capital of the Company by means of the issue of new shares in return for capital contributions, with the grant of a direct or indirect subscription right to its shareholders (capital increase for capital contributions);
 - (c) the increase of the capital of the Company from its own financial resources (capital increase from corporate funds);
 - (d) the grant by the Company to its shareholders of the right to subscribe for bonds or other securities with option or conversion rights (issue of securities with option or conversion rights);
 - (e) the distribution of an extraordinary dividend;
 - (f) the spin-off of a division of the Company in such a way that a new, independent company is formed or the division is absorbed by a third company, with the grant to the shareholders of the Company of shares in either the new company or the absorbing company for no consideration;
 - (g) the permanent delisting of [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] on the Relevant Exchange as a result of a merger by absorption or new company formation or for another reason;
 - (h) other comparable events that could have a diluting, concentrative or other effect on the calculated value of the Underlying.
- (3) The rules described in the preceding paragraphs shall apply analogously to securities representing shares as the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] (such as ADRs, ADSs or GDRs).
- (4) Changes in the method of calculating the Reference Price or other prices for [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] that are relevant in accordance with these Terms and Conditions, including a change in the Trading Days or Trading Hours relevant for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent], shall entitle the Issuer to adjust the Certificate Right accordingly in its reasonable discretion. The Issuer shall determine the date on which the adjusted Certificate Right shall first apply, taking account of the date of the change.

- (5) In the event that [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] is permanently delisted on the Relevant Exchange but continues to be listed on another exchange or another market which the Issuer in its reasonable discretion considers to be suitable (the "New Relevant Exchange"), then, subject to Extraordinary Termination of the Certificates by the Issuer pursuant to No. 2 of the General Conditions, the Cash Amount shall be calculated on the basis of the corresponding prices for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] calculated and published on the New Relevant Exchange. In addition, all references in these Terms and Conditions to the Relevant Exchange shall then be deemed, insofar as the context allows, to be references to the New Relevant Exchange.
- (6) In the event that a voluntary or compulsory liquidation, bankruptcy, insolvency, winding up, dissolution or comparable procedure affecting the Company is initiated, or in the event of a process as a result of which all of the shares in the Company or all or substantially all of the assets of the Company are nationalized or expropriated or required to be transferred in some other way to government bodies, authorities or institutions, or if following the occurrence of an event of another kind the Issuer reaches the conclusion that it is not possible to make an Adjustment that would reflect the changes that have occurred appropriately from a financial point of view, then the Issuer will terminate the Certificates pursuant to No. 2 of the General Conditions.
- (7) The Issuer shall give notice of the Adjustments and the date on which the Adjustments become effective in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions.

No. 7

Market Disruption Events

- (1) If a Market Disruption Event in accordance with paragraph (2) of this No. 7 exists on the [Final] Valuation Date, then the [Final] Valuation Date shall be postponed to the next following day which fulfills the criteria for a [Final] Valuation Date with respect to [the] [Underlying] [relevant Basket Constituent] [all Basket Constituents] in accordance with No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions and on which a Market Disruption Event no longer exists. - (1) If, during the term of the Certificates, changes are made to the concept on which the futures contract is based which are so fundamental that it is no longer comparable with the previous concept as determined by the Issuer in its reasonable discretion, or if trading in the futures contracts is permanently discontinued on the Relevant Exchange, the Issuer will determine a theoretical daily settlement price for each business day of the Relevant Exchange from the date when the changes occur onward. The price shall be determined on the basis of the method of calculation currently used to determine the theoretical contract value (fair value) of the futures contract. In the event that a theoretical daily settlement price is determined, it shall be deemed to be a daily settlement price within the meaning of these Terms and Conditions.

- (2) Changes in the method of calculating the Reference Price or other prices for [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] that are relevant in accordance with these Terms and Conditions, including a change in the Trading Days or Trading Hours relevant for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent], shall entitle the Issuer to adjust the Certificate Right accordingly in its reasonable discretion. The Issuer shall determine the date on which the adjusted Certificate Right shall first apply, taking account of the date of the change.
- (3) In the event that [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] is permanently delisted on the Relevant Exchange but continues to be listed on another exchange or another market which the Issuer in its reasonable discretion considers to be suitable (the "New Relevant Exchange"), then, subject to Extraordinary Termination of the Certificates by the Issuer pursuant to No. 2 of the General Conditions, the Cash Amount shall be calculated on the basis of the corresponding prices for the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] calculated and published on the New Relevant Exchange. In addition, all references in these Terms and Conditions to the Relevant Exchange shall then be deemed, insofar as the context allows, to be references to the New Relevant Exchange.
- (4) If the Issuer determines that the continued calculation of the value of [the Underlying][the][a] Basket Constituent] in accordance with paragraph (1) is not possible or that, following a change in the Conditions or the tradability of the Underlying, it is not possible for other reasons to make an Adjustment that would reflect the changes that have occurred appropriately from a financial point of view, the Issuer will terminate the Certificates pursuant to No. 2 of the General Conditions.
- (5) The Issuer shall give notice of the Adjustments and the date on which the Adjustments become effective in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions.

prevailing with respect to [the] [Underlying] [relevant Basket Constituent] [all Basket Constituents] on any such deemed [Final] Valuation Date.

 - (ii) a material change to the method of price-setting or the trading conditions with respect to the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] on the Relevant Exchange.

A change in the Trading Days or Trading Hours on or during which the [Underlying][Basket Constituent] is traded does not constitute a Market Disruption Event, provided that the change takes place as the result of a previously announced change in the trading regulations by the Relevant Exchange.]

However, there shall be no obligation to give notice. If, as a result of the provisions of this paragraph, the [Final] Valuation Date has been postponed for [five (5)][●] consecutive days that fulfill the criteria for a [Final] Valuation Date in accordance with No. 2 (3) of the Issue Specific Conditions and if the Market Disruption Event continues to exist on that day as well, then

Extraordinary Termination

- (1) If an Adjustment in accordance with No. 6 of the Issue Specific Conditions is not possible for any reasons whatsoever, the Issuer shall have the right to terminate all of the Certificates of a Series extraordinarily on the occurrence of one of the Termination Events described below by giving notice pursuant to No. 4 of the General Conditions, specifying the Termination Amount defined in accordance with paragraph (3) of this No. 2, and to declare them due for early repayment.

"Termination Events" shall be

- (a) the occurrence of a circumstance for which the Issuer is not responsible as a result of which the fulfillment of its obligations arising from the Certificates becomes or has become - for whatever reason - wholly or partly contrary to law or impracticable or unreasonable from a financial point of view, or
- (b) a change in the legal position or regulatory conditions or instructions as a result of which it has become contrary to law for the Issuer to maintain its hedge positions, or

- (c) the occurrence of a circumstance for which the Issuer is not responsible that makes it impossible or unreasonable for the Issuer (i) to convert the Reference Currency of the Underlying, the Basket or the Basket Constituents into the Settlement Currency of the Certificates by means of normal and legal transactions on the foreign exchange market or (ii) to transfer deposits held in the Reference Currency of the Underlying, the Basket or the Basket Constituents from a specific jurisdiction into another, or (iii) the occurrence of other circumstances for which the Issuer is not responsible that have a comparable negative effect on the convertibility of the Reference Currency of the Underlying, the Basket or the Basket Constituents into the Settlement Currency of the Certificates, if the Issuer concludes as a result of these circumstances that conversion of the Reference Currency of the Underlying, the Basket or the Basket Constituents into the Settlement Currency of the Certificates is no longer possible (the "Currency Disruption Event"), or
 - (d) the occurrence of circumstances for which the Issuer is not responsible pursuant to the provisions of No. 6 of the Issue Specific Conditions (Adjustments), as a result of which it is not possible to make Adjustments that are appropriate from a financial point of view to reflect the changes that have occurred.
- (2) All Termination Notices issued pursuant to this No. 2 shall be irrevocable. Any Termination by the Issuer pursuant to paragraph (1) of this No. 2 shall become effective on the date on which notice is given in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions or, if different, on the Termination Date specified in the announcement of the notice.
- (3) In the case of a Termination pursuant to paragraph (1) of this No. 2, the Issuer shall pay to each Certificate Holder in respect of each Certificate held by him an amount (the "Extraordinary Termination Amount"), determined by the Issuer in its reasonable discretion as the fair market value of a Certificate. In this event, the Issuer will transfer the Extraordinary Termination Amount for all of the Certificates affected by the Termination to the Central Securities Depository within fifteen (15) Banking Days at the head office of the Issuer and at the location of the Central Securities Depository after the date on which the Termination becomes effective for the credit of the Certificate Holders registered with the Central Securities Depository on the second Banking Day in Frankfurt am Main and at the location of the Central Securities Depository following the date on which the Termination becomes effective ("Payment Date upon Extraordinary Termination"). Upon the transfer of the Extraordinary Termination Amount to the Central Securities Depository, the Issuer shall be released from its payment obligations to the extent of the amount paid.

The Central Securities Depository has given an undertaking to the Issuer to make a corresponding onward transfer. In the event that the onward transfer is not possible within three months after the Payment Date upon Extraordinary Termination ("Presentation Period"), the Issuer shall be entitled to deposit the relevant amounts with the Frankfurt am Main Local Court for the Certificate Holders at their risk and expense with a waiver of its right to reclaim those amounts. Upon the deposit of the relevant amounts with the Court, the claims of the Certificate Holders against the Issuer shall expire.

No. 3

Presentation Period; Postponement of Maturity

- (1) The presentation period in accordance with § 801 (1) sentence 1 of the German Civil Code (Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, "BGB") shall be reduced to ten years.
- (2) If Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG or the relevant paying agent is not in a position in fact or in law to fulfill its obligations arising from the Certificates in a legally permitted manner in Frankfurt am Main or at the location of the relevant paying agent, respectively, the maturity of those obligations shall be postponed to the date on which it is once again possible in fact and in law for Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG or the relevant paying agent to fulfill its obligations in Frankfurt am Main or at the location of the paying agent, respectively. No rights shall be due to the Certificate Holders against the assets of Citigroup Global Markets Deutschland AG or the paying agent located in Frankfurt am Main or elsewhere as a result of such a postponement of maturity.
- (3) The Issuer will give notice of the occurrence and cessation of an event described in paragraph (2) of this No. 3 without delay in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions.

Notices

Notices under these Terms and Conditions shall be published on the Issuer's Website (or on an alternative web page which the Issuer shall announce with a notice period of at least six weeks in accordance with this provision) and shall become effective with respect to the Certificate Holders upon such publication, unless a later effective date is specified in the notice. If and to the extent that mandatory provisions of the applicable laws or exchange regulations require notices to be published elsewhere, they will also be published, where necessary, in the place prescribed in each case.

No. 5

Replacement of the Issuer

- (1) The Issuer shall be entitled at all times, without the consent of the Certificate Holders, to designate a different company as issuer (the "New Issuer") with respect to all obligations arising from or in connection with the Certificates in place of the Issuer, provided that
 - (a) the New Issuer assumes all obligations of the Issuer arising from or in connection with the Certificates (the "Assumption of Obligations");
 - (b) the Assumption of Obligations has no negative credit rating, financial, legal or taxation consequences for the Certificate Holders and this is confirmed by an independent Trustee, to be appointed especially for this purpose by the Issuer at its expense, which is a bank or accountancy firm of international standing (the "Trustee");

- (c) the Issuer or another company authorized by the Trustee provides a guarantee in favor of the Certificate Holders of all of the obligations of the New Issuer arising from the Certificates; and
 - (d) the New Issuer has received all necessary permissions from the relevant authorities to enable it to fulfill all its obligations arising from or in connection with the Certificates.
- (2) In the event of such replacement of the Issuer, all references to the Issuer contained in these Terms and Conditions shall be deemed to be references to the New Issuer.
- (3) Notice shall be given of the replacement of the Issuer in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions. Upon fulfillment of the conditions described above, the New Issuer shall replace the Issuer in every respect and the Issuer shall be released from all obligations vis-à-vis the Certificate Holders arising from or in connection with the Certificates associated with its function as Issuer.

No. 6

Binding Determinations; Amendments to Terms and Conditions; Termination in the case of errors

- (1) Determinations, calculations and other decisions of the Issuer shall, in the absence of manifest error, be binding on all involved parties.
- (2) The Issuer has the right and, if the amendment is advantageous for the Certificate Holder, the obligation after becoming aware of obvious spelling and calculation errors in these Terms and Conditions to amend these without the consent of the Certificate Holders in the Tables of the annex to the Issue Specific Conditions as well as in the provisions regarding the determination of the Cash Amount. An error is obvious if it is recognizable for an investor, who has competent knowledge about the relevant type of Certificates, particularly taking into account the Initial Issue Price specified in Table 1 of the Annex to the Issue Specific Conditions and the other value-determining factors of the Certificates. In order to determine the obviousness and the relevant understanding of a knowledgeable investor, the Issuer may involve an independent expert. Corrections to these Terms and Conditions are published in accordance with No. 4 of these General Conditions.
- (3) The Issuer has the right to amend any contradictory provisions in these Terms and Conditions without the consent of the Certificate Holders. The amendment may only serve to clear up the contradiction and not lead to any other changes to the Terms and Conditions. Furthermore, the Issuer has the right to supplement provisions containing gaps in these Terms and Conditions without the consent of the Certificate Holders. The supplementation may serve only to fill the gap in the provision and may not lead to any other changes to the Terms and Conditions. Amendments pursuant to sentence 1 and supplements pursuant to sentence 3 are permitted only, if they are reasonable for the Certificate Holder taking into account the economic purpose of the Terms and Conditions, particularly if they do not have a material adverse effect on the interests of the Certificate Holders. Amendments or supplements to these Terms and Conditions are published in accordance with No. 4 of these General Conditions.

- (4) In the case of a correction pursuant to paragraph (2) of this No. 6 or amendment or supplement pursuant to paragraph (3) of this No. 6, the Certificate Holder may terminate the Certificates within four weeks after the notification of the correction or amendment or supplement with immediate effect by written termination notice to the Paying Agent, if as a consequence of the correction or amendment or supplement, the content or scope of the Issuer's performance obligation changes in a manner that is not foreseeable for the Certificate Holder and detrimental for it. The Issuer will inform the Certificate Holders in the notification pursuant to paragraph (2) or paragraph (3) of this No. 6 about the potential termination right including the election right of the Certificate Holder regarding the Termination Amount. Termination date for purposes of this paragraph (4) (the "Correction Termination Date") is the date on which the Paying Agent receives the termination notice. An effective exercise of the termination by the Certificate Holder requires receipt of a termination statement signed with legally binding effect, which contains the following information: (i) name of the Certificate Holder, (ii) designation and number of Certificates to be terminated, and (iii) designation of a suitable bank account to which the Termination Amount is to be credited.
- (5) To the extent that a correction pursuant to paragraph (2) of this No. 6 or amendment or supplement pursuant to paragraph (3) of this No. 6 is out of the question, both the Issuer and each Certificate Holder may terminate the Certificates, if the preconditions for a contestation in accordance with Section 119 et seq. BGB exist vis-à-vis the respective Certificate Holders or vis-à-vis the Issuer. The Issuer may terminate the Certificates in their entirety, but not partially, through a notice in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions to the Certificate Holders; the termination must contain information about the Certificate Holder's election right regarding the Termination Amount. The Certificate Holder may terminate the Certificates vis-à-vis the Issuer by the Paying Agent receiving its termination notice; regarding the content of the termination notice, the rule of paragraph (4) sentence 4 applies accordingly. Termination by a Certificate Holder does not have any effect vis-à-vis the other Certificate Holders. The Termination Date within the meaning of this paragraph (5) (the "Error Termination Date") is, in the case of a termination by the Issuer, the date on which notice has been given in accordance with No. 4 of the General Conditions or, in the case of a termination by the Certificate Holder, the date on which the Paying Agent receives the termination notice. The termination must occur without undue delay after the party entitled to terminate has become aware of the cause for termination.
- (6) In the case of an effective termination pursuant to paragraph (4) or paragraph (5) of this No. 6, the Issuer will pay a Termination Amount to the Certificate Holders. The Termination Amount (the "Termination Amount") corresponds to either (i) the most recently determined market price of a Certificate (as defined below) determined by the Calculation Agent or (ii) upon request of the Certificate Holder, the purchase price paid by the Certificate Holder when acquiring the Certificate, if he documents it to the Paying Agent.

The Issuer will transfer the Termination Amount within three (3) Banking Days after the Termination Date to the Clearing System for credit to the accounts of the depositors of the Certificates or in the case of a termination by the Certificate Holder to the account stated in the termination notice. If the Certificate Holder demands repayment of the paid purchase price after the Termination Date, the amount of the difference, by which the purchase price exceeds the Market Price, is transferred subsequently. The rules of No. 3 of the Issue Specific Conditions concerning the payment terms apply accordingly. By payment of the Termination Amount, all rights of the Certificate Holders from the terminated Certificates lapse. This leaves any claims of the Certificate Holder for compensation of any negative interest according to Section 122 paragraph 1 BGB unaffected, unless these claims are excluded due to knowledge or grossly negligent ignorance of the Certificate Holder of the cause for termination in accordance with Section 122 paragraph 2 BGB.

If the Certificates are listed on an exchange the Market Price (the "Market Price") of the Certificates corresponds to the arithmetic mean of the cash settlement prices (Kassakurse), which were published on the three (3) Banking Days immediately preceding the Correction Termination Date or the Error Termination Date (each a "Termination Date") at the securities exchange where the Certificates are listed. If a Market Disruption Event pursuant to Section 7 of the Issue Specific Conditions occurred on any of these Banking Days, the cash settlement price on that day is not taken into account when determining the arithmetic mean. If no cash settlement prices were published on all three (3) Banking Days or a Market Disruption Event pursuant to Section 7 of the Issue Specific Conditions existed on all of those days, the Market Price corresponds to an amount, which is determined by the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion taking into account the market conditions existing on the Banking Day immediately prior to the Termination Date.

If the Certificates are not listed on an exchange the Market Price (the "Market Price") of the Certificates corresponds to an amount, which is determined by the Calculation Agent in its reasonable discretion taking into account the market conditions existing on the Banking Day immediately prior to the Correction Termination Date or the Error Termination Date (each a "Termination Date").

[in the case of Certificates based on the DAX®/X-DAX®, insert:

Where the DAX®/X-DAX® is the underlying, the following should be noted:

The relevant observation price where the DAX®/X-DAX® is the underlying includes both the prices of the DAX® and the prices of the X-DAX®. In this context, the respective exchange trading hours play a decisive role.

In the case of Certificates based on the DAX®/X-DAX® as the underlying, this means that: the calculation of the DAX® begins from 9.00 a.m. and ends at 17.30 p.m. (in each case local time in Frankfurt am Main) with the prices of the Xetra® closing auction.

The X-DAX®, the indicator for the performance of the DAX® before the exchange opens and after Xetra® closes, is calculated on each exchange day on the basis of DAX® Future prices from 8.00 a.m. until the start of calculation of the DAX® and from 17.45 p.m. until 22.00 p.m. (in each case local time in Frankfurt am Main) including the DAX® Future closing auction.

The period in which the barrier event can occur is therefore considerably longer than in the case of traditional DAX® Certificates. If there are changes to the underlying trading hours, the same changes apply for the purposes of these provisions.

On the (final) valuation date (Certificates with a fixed term) or the exercise/termination date (Open End Certificates), the relevant price as the "Reference Price of the Underlying" is the official closing price of the DAX® Performance Index.]]

Issue price, price calculation and costs and taxes on purchase

The initial issue price is specified in Table 1 of the Annex to the Issue Specific Conditions.

Both the initial issue price and the bid and offered prices quoted by the Issuer during the term of the Certificates are calculated using theoretical pricing models. In this context, the bid and offered prices for the Certificates are determined on the basis, among other things, of the mathematical value of the Certificates, the costs of hedging and accepting risk and the expected return. Please see also the information provided under "Risk relating to the calculation of the Certificate prices" and "4. Risk of conflicts of interest", both in Section "I. Risk factors of Certificates".

[No costs or taxes of any kind for the certificate holders will be deducted by the Issuer whether the Certificates are purchased off-market (in countries where this is permitted by law) or via a stock exchange. Such costs or taxes [(see below for possible payments of sales commissions)] should be distinguished from the fees and costs charged to the purchasers of the Certificates by their bank for executing the securities order, which are generally shown separately on the statement for the purchase transaction in addition to the price of the Certificates. The latter costs depend solely on the particular terms of business of the certificate purchaser's bank. In the case of a purchase via a stock exchange, additional fees and expenses are also incurred. Furthermore, certificate holders are generally charged an individual fee in each case by their bank for managing the securities account. Notwithstanding the foregoing, profits arising from the Certificates or capital represented by the Certificates may be subject to taxation.]

[The Issuer allows a sales commission of [up to] [●] per cent in respect of these Certificates. The sales commission is based on the initial issue price or, if greater, on the selling price in the secondary market.]

[The Issuer does not intend to provide any additional information about the underlying. [The Issuer has provided additional information about the underlying under [●] [and will update this information continuously following the issue of the Certificates]. This information includes [●].]

The Issuer will publish additional notices described in detail in the terms and conditions. Examples of such notices are adjustments of the features of the Certificates as a result of adjustments relating to the underlying which may, for example, affect the conditions for calculating the cash amount or a replacement of the underlying. A further example is the early redemption of the Certificates if an adjustment cannot be made.

Notices under these terms and conditions are generally published on the Issuer's website. If and to the extent that mandatory provisions of the applicable laws or exchange regulations require notices to be published elsewhere, they will also be published, where necessary, in the place prescribed in each case.

ANNEX - ISSUE SPECIFIC SUMMARY

[the issue specific summary is to be appended to the Final Terms by the Issuer]

V. TAXATION

All taxes or other levies that may be incurred in connection with the payment of the cash amount shall be borne by the certificate holders.

Withholding tax may apply to any payments due under the Certificates or in the event that the Certificates are sold.

The following section briefly summarizes specific taxation issues related to the Certificates in the Offer State(s). It deals only with particular aspects of the taxation issues and does not in any way represent a comprehensive analysis of all the tax consequences of the purchase, sale and redemption of the respective products. Furthermore, no account is taken of the tax regulations of countries other than the Offer State(s) nor of the individual circumstances of the investor. Exceptions to the legal position presented here may apply to specific situations or to specific investors.

This analysis is based on the legal position applicable in the Offer State(s) at the date of the Securities Note. The applicable legal position and its interpretation by the tax authorities may be subject to change, in some circumstances retrospectively. In Germany at the present time, there are only a few statements made in court rulings and by the finance ministry relating to the tax treatment of innovative and structured financial products that relate to Certificates of this type. The possibility cannot be ruled out that the tax authorities, courts or banks (paying or custody agents) may hold an opinion of the tax position that is different from the opinion presented here.

Potential investors are recommended to consult their personal tax advisers in order to obtain further information on the tax consequences of the purchase, sale and redemption of the respective products. Those advisers alone are in a position to make an adequate assessment based on the particular tax circumstances of the individual investor.

1. Taxation of income in the Federal Republic of Germany

The information below relates only to the taxation of natural persons who hold the Certificates as private assets.

Tax residents

Profits from the sale, transfer or redemption of the products are subject to income tax and to the solidarity surcharge (and where relevant to church tax) as income from capital assets. For these purposes, profit is the difference between the proceeds of the sale, transfer or redemption after deducting expenses directly and pertinently connected with the sale or transfer transaction or redemption, and the cost of purchase. In the case of transactions that are not conducted in euros, the proceeds must be converted into euros at the time of the sale, transfer or redemption and the cost of purchase into euros at the time of purchase. In the context of income from capital assets, losses can be offset at most against certain other income from capital assets, but cannot be offset against other types of income such as income from employment or self-employment, or income from commercial operations or rental or lease income.

If the redemption of the products takes the form of the delivery of securities rather than the payment of a redemption amount, the disposal price of the products corresponds to their cost of purchase. The latter is also deemed to be the cost of purchase of the securities. Any losses arising from the subsequent sale of shares may only be offset against profits from disposals of shares in public corporations (Aktiengesellschaften). If a cash payment is made in respect of fractions of securities that are not delivered, the cash payment is taxable.

In the case of the physical delivery of precious metals or other assets, the proceeds of disposal are generally deemed to be the market value of the precious metals or other assets delivered.

Investment income withholding tax

If the products are kept in a securities account maintained by the holder with a domestic bank or a domestic financial services institution within the meaning of the German Banking Act (Gesetz über das Kreditwesen) (including a domestic branch of a foreign bank or financial services institution, but excluding a foreign branch of a domestic bank or domestic financial services institution) or a domestic securities trading firm or domestic securities trading bank (referred to in the following as a "German Institution"), or if such a German Institution executes the disposal of the products and the German Institution pays out or credits the relevant investment income (referred to in the following as the "Paying Agent"), the Paying Agent is required to withhold and pay over investment income withholding tax amounting to 26.375 per cent (including the solidarity surcharge). This also applies if the Paying Agent pays out or credits the investment income, against surrender of the products, to a bank or financial services institution other than a foreign bank or a foreign financial services institution (counter transaction).

As a general rule, income from capital assets (such as disposal gains in connection with the products) are subject to the final withholding tax (Abgeltungssteuer) amounting to 26.375 per cent (including the solidarity surcharge but without taking into account any applicable church tax), if the investor is a natural person and the products are held as private assets. If the products are kept or managed by a Paying Agent, then the final withholding tax is retained directly by the Paying Agent (see above). A natural person may also be subject to church tax. At the written request of the investor, the Paying Agent is also required to withhold the church tax. If the investor decides by means of the written request that the Paying Agent shall also take the church tax into account as part of the withholding procedure, the final withholding tax is reduced by 25 per cent of the church tax applicable to the investment income. The investment income withholding tax amount that has been reduced in this way forms the basis of assessment for the church tax the Paying Agent is required to withhold. The rate of church tax differs between the individual federal states.

The basis of assessment for the purposes of the investment income withholding tax depends on the type of investment income:

In the event of the sale, transfer or redemption of the products, the difference between the proceeds of the sale, transfer or redemption after deducting expenses directly and pertinently connected with the sale or transfer transaction or redemption, and the cost of purchase, is subject to investment income withholding tax if the products were acquired or sold by the Paying Agent and kept or managed by it since that time. If the investor transfers the products to a different securities account, the domestic Paying Agent surrendering the products is required to provide the Paying Agent taking over the products with the data relating to their purchase. If the purchase data are not documented in accordance with the statutory requirements, the deduction of tax is assessed on 30 per cent of the proceeds of the sale, transfer or redemption of the products.

If the redemption of the products takes the form of the delivery of securities rather than the payment of a redemption amount, the disposal price of the products corresponds to their cost of purchase. The latter is also treated as the cost of purchase of the securities. Consequently no liability to investment income withholding tax arises in this case.

The regulations described in the previous paragraph do not apply to the physical delivery of other assets (such as precious metals) on the maturity of the securities. In such cases, the proceeds of disposal are generally deemed to be the market value of the precious metals or other assets delivered. The delivery of other assets will therefore normally result in the taxation of any gains or losses arising from the securities. Special considerations may apply if the right to physical delivery relates to gold or other commodities, depending on the particular terms and conditions of the products.

If a cash payment is made in respect of fractions of securities that are not delivered, the cash payment is subject to investment income withholding tax when received. Once the final withholding tax has been deducted from this income, there is in principle no further liability to income tax. Expenses actually incurred in connection with the investment income are not deductible for tax purposes. If there is a liability to church tax and if the Paying Agent does not deduct church tax at the request of the certificate holder, this is addressed as part of the annual tax assessment.

The taxpayer may apply to be assessed at his personal rate of tax, provided the rate does not exceed 25 per cent, if that results in a more favorable tax treatment (Günstigerprüfung). Expenses are not deductible for this method of assessment either, however.

For the purposes of determining income from capital assets, a flat-rate allowance of EUR 801 is deductible as expenses. Spouses who are assessed jointly are entitled to a combined flat-rate allowance of EUR 1,602. Losses from capital assets may not be offset against other types of income (e.g. income from employment). However, the losses are used to reduce the taxpayer's taxable income from capital assets in the subsequent assessment periods.

The general principle is that tax is not required to be deducted in the case of natural persons if their investment income does not exceed the flat-rate allowance, or if it can be assumed that no liability to tax will arise. The precondition for the non-deduction of tax is an exemption instruction (Freistellungsauftrag) from the investor in the officially prescribed form or a non-assessment certificate (Nichtveranlagungs-Bescheinigung) from the local tax authority responsible for the creditor.

Tax non-residents

In the case of tax non-residents, i.e. persons who are not resident in Germany for tax purposes, investment income is not subject to German taxation, unless the income qualifies for specific reasons as partially taxable income in accordance with German tax law. This may be the case in particular if investment income is generated as the result of a counter transaction and paid out or credited by the debtor or a German Institution, and the products are not held in custody by the debtor or the German Institution. The income in such cases is subject to income tax and to the solidarity surcharge. Investment income withholding tax may be deducted if the additional preconditions are met. Subject to certain preconditions, tax non-residents may be able to claim the benefit of tax reductions or exemptions under any double taxation agreements with Germany that may be applicable.

The Issuer does not assume any responsibility for the withholding of taxes at the source.

2. Taxation of income in the Republic of Portugal

Tax residents

Income obtained on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value is classified as investment income. Any other income obtained on transactions related to Certificates is classified as a capital gain.

Tax residents – taxation of investment income

Investment income obtained by Portuguese resident individuals in consideration for the remuneration received on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value is subject to individual income tax.

If the payment of the remuneration received on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value is made available to Portuguese resident individuals through a Portuguese resident entity or a Portuguese branch of a non-resident entity, withholding tax applies currently at 28 per cent. If such income is not earned as business or professional income, the said withholding tax is the final tax on that income unless the individual elects to include it in his taxable income, in which case the said income will be subject to the general progressive personal income tax rates varying between 14.5 per cent and 48 per cent. In addition, a solidarity surcharge will be added to any taxable income exceeding €80,000, and is charged at a flat rate of 2.5 per cent up to €250,000 and at 5 per cent on any taxable income exceeding €250,000, and a surtax of 3.5 per cent will also apply. In this second case (i.e. where the individual opts for the taxable income aggregation), the tax withheld is deemed to be as a payment on account of the final tax due.

If the remuneration received on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value is not paid through an entity located in Portugal, it is not subject to Portuguese withholding tax. However, autonomous taxation - currently a rate of 28 per cent - will apply, which is the final tax on that income unless the individual elects to include it in his/her taxable income, subject to tax at the progressive rates/solidarity surcharge/ surtax mentioned above.

If the remuneration on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value, is paid or made available through Portuguese tax resident entities or a Portuguese branch of a non-resident entity to or on behalf of non-resident entities, without a permanent establishment in Portugal, and which are domiciled in a tax haven as listed in the Governmental Order (Portaria) 150/2004 of February 13, as amended, the respective taxable income will be subject to a final 35 per cent withholding tax rate. However, if the said remuneration is not received through an entity located in Portugal, it is not subject to Portuguese withholding tax, but an autonomous taxation currently of 35 per cent will apply, which is the final tax on that income.

If the remuneration on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value, is paid or made available to accounts in the name of one or more accountholders acting on behalf of undisclosed third parties is subject to a final withholding tax at 35 per cent, unless the beneficial owner of the income is disclosed, in which case the general rules will apply.

In the case of transactions that are not conducted in euros, the relevant amounts must be converted into euros at the time the said transactions take place, and the applicable exchange rate is determined according to the rules contained in the personal income tax code.

Tax residents – taxation of capital gains

Gains obtained on transactions related to Certificates (with the exception of the remuneration arising from Certificates that guarantee the holder the right to receive a minimum value in excess of the subscription value) by an individual resident in Portugal for tax purposes, are subject to Portuguese capital gains taxation.

The taxable income subject to personal income tax is determined by the positive difference between the consideration received from the sale, transfer or redemption of the Certificates and their acquisition price. Any expenses directly and pertinently connected with the transaction are considered to be irrelevant for purpose of assessing the relevant taxable gain.

In the case of transactions that are not conducted in euros, the relevant amounts must be converted into euros at the time the said transactions take place, and the applicable exchange rate is determined according to the rules set in the personal income tax code.

Individuals may choose between (i) the taxation of the positive balance between capital gains and losses (losses resulting from transactions with parties domiciled in a tax haven as listed in the Governmental Order (Portaria) 150/2004 of February 13, as amended, are excluded) at the autonomous rate of 28 per cent, or (ii) to aggregate that income to the remaining taxable income.

When aggregation is chosen, the taxable income will be subject to the general progressive personal income tax rates varying between 14.5 per cent and 48 per cent, and a solidarity surcharge will be added to any taxable income exceeding €80,000. This surcharge is charged at a flat rate of 2.5

per cent up to €250,000 and at 5 per cent on any taxable income exceeding €250,000, and a surtax of 3.5 per cent will also apply. The option for aggregation allows an individual to carry forward any losses related to Certificates during a two year period. However, such losses may only be used to offset future gains deriving from transactions related to Certificates.

Tax residents – other taxes

A 10 per cent stamp duty applies to the acquisition through gift or inheritance of Certificates by an individual, except when the beneficiary is the respective spouse, parent or children.

There is neither wealth nor estate tax in Portugal.

Tax non-residents

In the case of tax non-residents, i.e. persons who are not resident in Portugal for tax purposes and/or do not maintain in the Portuguese territory a permanent establishment to which the Certificates are allocated, any income deriving from the Certificates will not be subject to Portuguese taxation, unless the income qualifies for specific reasons as taxable income in accordance with Portuguese tax law.

This may be the case, among others, when the Issuer is located in the Portuguese territory.

In this last case, investment income obtained in consideration for the remuneration received on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value, will be subject to withholding tax, currently at a definitive rate of 28 per cent. Relief may be available to reduce the marginal rate in accordance with any applicable double taxation agreements, subject to compliance with all relevant conditions imposed by the taxing authorities in Portugal and the jurisdiction of the respective security holder.

However, if the remuneration on the exercise of Certificates that entitle the security holder to receive from the relevant Issuer a predetermined amount higher than the subscription value, is paid or made available through Portuguese tax resident entities or a Portuguese branch of a non-resident entity to non-resident individuals, without a permanent establishment in Portugal, who are domiciled in a tax haven as listed in the Governmental Order (Portaria) 150/2004 of February 13, as amended, the respective taxable income will be subject to a final 35 per cent withholding tax rate.

Also, in case of investment income deriving from the above mentioned remuneration when paid or made available on accounts held by one or more parties on account of unidentified third parties will be subject to a withholding tax rate of 35 per cent, except where the beneficial owner of the income is identified, in which case the general rules will apply.

As far as the taxation of capital gains is concerned, gains obtained on transactions related to Certificates are in principle exempt of taxation. This exemption shall not apply if the security holder is resident in a jurisdiction with a more favourable tax regime than Portugal, as defined under Governmental Order (Portaria) No. 150/2004, of February 13, as amended. If the said exemption does not apply, the gains will be subject to personal income tax at a rate of 28 per cent. Under the double taxation agreements entered into by Portugal, such gains are usually not subject to Portuguese personal income tax, but the applicable rules should be confirmed on a case by case basis.

Tax non-residents – other taxes

A 10 per cent stamp duty applies to the acquisition through gift or inheritance of Certificates by an individual when (i) the Certificates are deposited in a Portuguese tax resident entity, or in a Portuguese branch of a non-resident entity, or (ii) the transferor is tax domiciled in Portugal, except when the beneficiary is the respective spouse, parent or children.

Portugal does not have a wealth tax or an estate tax.

The Issuer does not assume any responsibility for the payment of any taxes due in the Republic of Portugal.

3. Taxation in the French Republic

The information below relates only to the taxation of private individuals (“Investors”) whose domicile or customary residence is in France, and who hold the Certificates as private assets.

We understand that:

- the Certificates serve no income such as dividend or interest to the Investors during their life.
- Upon expiry/redemption of the Certificates, the Investors do not receive the underlying asset, but only cash.

As a general rule, if the Certificate is sold on the secondary market, the gain (equal to the difference between (i) the sale price and (ii) the purchase price of the Certificate) will be subject to personal income tax at the marginal rate up to 45 per cent, excluding exceptional contributions for high-income individuals, and to social contributions at the rate of 15.5 per cent (of which 5.1 per cent are deductible from the income subject to personal income tax). Any loss made may be set off against capital gains made on other securities or certificates during the year in question and the following ten years.

Upon expiry/redemption of the Certificate, the gain (equal to the difference between (i) the monies received upon expiry/redemption or the value of the assets received on that date and (ii) the purchase price of the Certificate) will be subject to ordinary personal income tax with a marginal rate currently up to 45 per cent, excluding exceptional contributions for high-income individuals, and to social contributions at the rate of 15.5 per cent (of which 5.1 per cent are deductible from the income subject to personal income tax). Any loss made will not be deductible from other sources of income subject to personal income tax.

Currently, the French Republic does not levy any emission, stamp or registration taxes in relation with the Certificates unless shares or stock are acquired.

The French Republic has implemented the Savings Tax Directive (2003/48/EC) by providing information about the beneficial owner of the Certificates including information about income from the Certificates. Such information is provided by the French Tax Authorities to the competent authority of the other country in which the beneficial owner is resident. Therefore, the French Republic does not raise a special withholding tax based on the Savings Tax Directive.

Further information regarding the tax treatment will be included in the Final Terms. The potential Investor in the Certificates should note that the information regarding the tax consequences in the documentation of the program and in the Final Terms is merely intended to provide a basic background with regard to the stamp and withholding taxes. The information provided relies on applicable laws, the practice of the French tax authorities and precedents of the competent French courts at the time such information was gathered. The information is not intended to provide for an exhaustive presentation of all tax aspects which may be relevant for the decision to acquire, hold, sell or redeem the Certificates. Especially, the information does not include special circumstances or concomitants which may be relevant for a specific Investor. Potential Investors in the Certificates are therefore encouraged to seek advised from their tax adviser with regard to an investment in the Certificates.

4. Taxation in the Netherlands

The following is a general summary of certain Netherlands tax consequences of the acquisition, holding and disposal of the Certificates. This summary does not purport to describe all possible tax considerations or consequences that may be relevant to a holder or prospective holder of Certificates and does not purport to deal with the tax consequences applicable to all categories of investors, some of which (such as investors that are subject to taxation in Bonaire, Sint Eustatius and Saba and trusts or similar arrangements) may be subject to special rules. In view of its general nature, it should be treated with corresponding caution. Holders or prospective holders of Certificates should consult with their tax advisers with regard to the tax consequences of investing in the Certificates in their particular circumstances. The discussion below is included for general information purposes only.

Except as otherwise indicated, this summary only addresses Netherlands national tax legislation and published regulations, as in effect on the date hereof and as interpreted in published case law until this date, without prejudice to any amendment introduced at a later date and implemented with or without retroactive effect.

Please note that this summary does not describe the Netherlands tax consequences for:

- i. holders of Certificates if such holders, and in the case of individuals, his/her partner or certain of their relatives by blood or marriage in the direct line (including foster children), have a substantial interest or deemed substantial interest in the Issuer under The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001 (in Dutch: "Wet inkomstenbelasting 2001"). Generally speaking, a holder of securities in a company is considered to hold a substantial interest in such company, if such holder alone or, in the case of individuals, together with his/her partner (as defined in The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001), directly or indirectly, holds (i) an interest of 5 per cent or more of the total issued and outstanding capital of that company or of 5 per cent or more of the issued and outstanding capital of a certain class of shares of that company; or (ii) rights to acquire, directly or indirectly, such interest; or (iii) certain profit sharing rights in that company that relate to 5 per cent or more of the company's annual profits and/or to 5 per cent or more of the company's liquidation proceeds. A deemed substantial interest arises if a substantial interest (or part thereof) in a company has been disposed of, or is deemed to have been disposed of, on a non-recognition basis;

- ii. holders of Certificates who are resident of the Netherlands, if such holders, and in the case of individuals, his/her partner or certain of their relatives by blood or marriage in the direct line (including foster children), have (a) a substantial interest or deemed substantial interest or right in another company and will obtain, under the Certificates, an additional interest or right in this company or (b) a substantial interest or deemed substantial interest under the Certificates in another company;
- iii. holders of Certificates who are non resident of the Netherlands, if such holders, and in the case of individuals, his/her partner or certain of their relatives by blood or marriage in the direct line (including foster children), have (a) a substantial interest or deemed substantial interest or right in a Netherlands company and will obtain, under the Certificates, an additional interest or right in this Netherlands company or (b) a substantial interest or deemed substantial interest under the Certificates in a Netherlands company;
- iv. holders of Certificates who are resident of the Netherlands if such Certificates entitle the holder to the beneficial ownership of (a) profit participating loans or rights in an entity or (b) an interest in the enterprise of a tax transparent entity;
- v. holders of Certificates who are non resident of the Netherlands if such Certificates entitle the holder to the beneficial ownership of (a) profit participating loans or rights in a Netherlands entity or (b) an interest in the enterprise of a Netherlands tax transparent entity;
- vi. holders of Certificates if such Certificates are or treated as (a) shares (in Dutch: "aandelen"), (b) profit participating certificates (in Dutch: "winstbewijzen"), (c) debt characterized as equity for Netherlands tax purposes, and (d) redeemable in exchange for, convertible into or linked to shares or other equity instruments issued or to be issued by a Netherlands entity;
- vii. holders of Certificates if the holder has an interest or could obtain an interest under the Certificates in (a) real estate located in the Netherlands or (b) an entity of which the assets consist or have consisted, directly or indirectly, on a consolidated basis or not, for 30 per cent or more, of real estate located in the Netherlands;
- viii. holders of Certificates if the holder has an interest or could obtain an interest under the Certificates that qualifies as a "participation" (generally, an interest of 5 per cent or more alone or together with a related entity) for the purposes of the Netherlands Corporate Income Tax Act 1969 (in Dutch: "Wet op de vennootschapsbelasting 1969");

- ix. holders of Certificates who are individuals for whom the Certificates or any benefit derived from the Certificates are a remuneration or deemed to be a remuneration for activities performed by such holders or certain individuals related to such holder (as defined in The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001); and
- x. pension funds, investment institutions (in Dutch: "fiscale beleggingsinstellingen"), exempt investment institutions (in Dutch: "vrijgestelde beleggingsinstellingen") (as defined in The Netherlands Corporate Income Tax Act 1969) and other entities that are exempt from Netherlands corporate income tax.

Taxes on income and capital gains

Residents of the Netherlands

Generally speaking, if the holder of Certificates is an entity that is a resident or deemed to be resident of the Netherlands for Netherlands corporate income tax purposes, any payment under the Certificates or any gain or loss realized on the disposal or deemed disposal of the Certificates is subject to Netherlands corporate income tax at a rate of 25 per cent (a corporate income tax rate of 20 per cent applies with respect to taxable profits up to €200,000, the bracket for 2013).

If a holder of Certificates is an individual, resident or deemed to be resident of the Netherlands for Netherlands income tax purposes (including the non resident individual holder who has made an election for the application of the rules of The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001 as they apply to residents of the Netherlands), any payment under the Certificates or any gain or loss realized on the disposal or deemed disposal of the Certificates is taxable at the progressive income tax rates (with a maximum of 52 per cent), if:

- i. the Certificates are attributable to an enterprise from which the holder of Certificates derives a share of the profit, whether as an entrepreneur or as a person who has a co entitlement to the net worth of such enterprise without being a shareholder (as defined in The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001); or
- ii. the holder of Certificates is considered to perform activities with respect to the Certificates that go beyond ordinary asset management (in Dutch: "normaal, actief vermogensbeheer") or derives benefits from the Certificates that are (otherwise) taxable as benefits from other activities (in Dutch: "resultaat uit overige werkzaamheden").

If the above-mentioned conditions i. and ii. do not apply to the individual holder of Certificates, such holder will be taxed annually on a deemed income of 4 per cent of his/her net investment assets for the year at an income tax rate of 30 per cent. The net investment assets for the year are the fair market value of the investment assets less the allowable liabilities on 1 January of the relevant calendar year. The Certificates are included as investment assets. A tax free allowance may be available. An actual gain or loss in respect of the Certificates is as such not subject to Netherlands income tax.

Non residents of the Netherlands

A holder of Certificates that is neither resident nor deemed to be resident of the Netherlands nor has made an election for the application of the rules of The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001 as they apply to residents of the Netherlands will not be subject to Netherlands taxes on income or capital gains in respect of any payment under the Certificates or in respect of any gain or loss realized on the disposal or deemed disposal of the Certificates, provided that:

- i. such holder does not have an interest in an enterprise or deemed enterprise (as defined in The Netherlands Income Tax Act 2001 and The Netherlands Corporate Income Tax Act 1969) which, in whole or in part, is either effectively managed in the Netherlands or carried on through a permanent establishment, a deemed permanent establishment or a permanent representative in the Netherlands and to which enterprise or part of an enterprise the Certificates are attributable; and
- ii. in the event the holder is an individual, such holder does not carry out any activities in the Netherlands with respect to the Certificates that go beyond ordinary asset management and does not derive benefits from the Certificates that are (otherwise) taxable as benefits from other activities in the Netherlands.

Gift and inheritance taxes

Residents of the Netherlands

Gift or inheritance taxes will arise in the Netherlands with respect to a transfer of the Certificates by way of a gift by, or on the death of, a holder of such Certificates who is resident or deemed resident of the Netherlands at the time of the gift or his/her death.

Non residents of the Netherlands

No Netherlands gift or inheritance taxes will arise on the transfer of Certificates by way of gift by, or on the death of, a holder of Certificates who is neither resident nor deemed to be resident in the Netherlands, unless:

- i. in the case of a gift of a Certificates by an individual who at the date of the gift was neither resident nor deemed to be resident in the Netherlands, such individual dies within 180 days after the date of the gift, while being resident or deemed to be resident in the Netherlands; or
- ii. the transfer is otherwise construed as a gift or inheritance made by, or on behalf of, a person who, at the time of the gift or death, is or is deemed to be resident in the Netherlands.

For purposes of Netherlands gift and inheritance taxes, amongst others, a person that holds the Netherlands nationality will be deemed to be resident in the Netherlands if such person has been resident in the Netherlands at any time during the ten years preceding the date of the gift or his/her death. Additionally, for purposes of Netherlands gift tax, amongst others, a person not holding the Netherlands nationality will be deemed to be resident in the Netherlands if such person has been resident in the Netherlands at any time during the twelve months preceding the date of the gift. Applicable tax treaties may override deemed residency.

Value added tax (VAT)

No Netherlands VAT will be payable by the holders of the Certificates on any payment in consideration for the issue of the Certificates or with respect to the payment of interest or principal by the Issuer under the Certificates.

Other taxes and duties

No Netherlands registration tax, customs duty, stamp duty or any other similar documentary tax or duty will be payable by the holders of the Certificates in respect or in connection with the issue of the Certificates or with respect to the payment of interest or principal by the Issuer under the Certificates.

5. Taxation of income in Sweden

Certificates

Certificates are considered "financial instruments" for Swedish tax purposes. Any and all type of divestments (including redemptions or settlements) of Certificates are considered to constitute a taxable event and taxed in accordance with applicable capital taxation rules. Capital gains, or losses, are normally calculated as the difference between any and all remuneration, after divestment costs have been deducted, and the tax base of the Certificates including investment costs. When calculating the tax base, the so-called "average method" is normally used. The method entails that the tax base of a financial instrument is the average tax base for all financial instruments of the same class and kind held by a person or entity.

Tax consequences may vary depending on the type of underlying asset and the Certificate holders' situation. If the underlying assets are shares, share depository receipts, futures based on shares or indices, et cetera, the tax rules regarding shares are generally applicable. If the underlying assets are receivables or similar assets, the tax rules regarding these types of assets are generally applicable. If the underlying assets are commodities or futures based on commodities, et cetera, the tax rules regarding these types of assets will instead be applicable. Should the underlying assets be a mix of different type of assets (a basket of assets), it is not entirely clear how to classify the Certificate for Swedish tax purposes. However, the Administrative Supreme Court held in a case, dated 20 February 2008, that the classification for tax purposes of a so-called "marked bond", based upon different type of assets, should be made at the time the bond was issued and on the basis of the weight of the different underlying assets. The case indicates that Certificates with different underlying assets should be classified at that time and in accordance with the underlying asset with the greatest weight. The classification of the Certificates is mostly of concern when setting off capital gains towards capital losses.

Certificate holders resident in Sweden

Proceeds, to the extent they constitute a capital gain, and deemed interest, paid to a Certificate holder who is a tax resident in Sweden for tax purposes and an individual will be taxed as capital income and taxed at flat rate of 30 per cent. Specific tax consequences may, however, be applicable to certain individuals and certain ways of investing, for example, investments through endowments or share savings accounts.

Proceeds, to the extent they constitute a capital gain, and deemed interest, paid to a Certificate holder who is a tax resident in Sweden for tax purposes and a legal entity will be taxed as business income and taxed at a flat rate of 22 per cent. Specific tax consequences may, however, be applicable to certain categories of legal entities, for example, investment companies, life insurance companies and partnerships.

For Certificate holders who are legal entities deemed interest will become taxable on an annual accrual basis in accordance with Swedish GAAP, while capital gain will become taxable at the time of the disposal, redemption or settlement, of the Certificates. A Certificate holder who is a legal entity may also become subject to corporate income tax in case of unrealized currency exchange gains on an annual basis in accordance with Swedish GAAP. Swedish GAAP may, however, have a different content for certain types of legal entities, for example, banks and insurance companies.

Tax on payment of deemed interest or dividends to Certificate holders who are private individuals may be withheld at source. The Issuer does not assume any responsibility for the withholding of taxes at the source.

Certificate holders not resident in Sweden

Individuals who are non-resident in Sweden for tax purposes (and who has not been resident in Sweden during the last ten-year period) and legal entities not incorporated, registered, and without a permanent establishment, in Sweden are normally not subject to Swedish capital income taxation on payments of capital gain or deemed interest.

Sweden does not impose withholding tax on payments of deemed interest abroad unless such payments are re-categorized as dividend distribution. Sweden does not impose taxation of the recipient of capital payments abroad, unless such payments are categorized as royalty-like payments. The Issuer does not assume any responsibility for the withholding of taxes at the source.

6. Taxation of income in Finland

The following section briefly summarizes specific taxation issues related to the Certificates in Finland. It deals only with particular aspects of the taxation issues and does not in any way represent a comprehensive analysis of all the tax consequences of the purchase, sale and redemption of the respective products. Furthermore, no account is taken of the tax regulations of countries other than Finland, nor of the individual circumstances of the investor. Exceptions to the legal position presented here may apply to specific situations or to specific investors.

This analysis is based on the Finnish legal position applicable at the date of the Securities Note. The applicable legal position and its interpretation by the tax authorities may be subject to change, which change may take place also retrospectively. It should be noted that there is in Finland currently hardly any case law, guidelines by the tax authorities or tax practice relating to the tax treatment of innovative structured financial products such as Certificates of this type. There is a significant possibility that the tax authorities, courts or banks (paying or custody agents) may hold an opinion of the tax position that is different from the opinion presented here.

Potential investors are recommended to consult their personal tax advisers in order to obtain further information on the overall tax consequences and tax reporting obligations applicable with respect of the purchase, sale and redemption of the respective products, taking into account that there may be differences in the tax treatment of different series of the Certificates. Those advisers alone are in a position to make an adequate assessment based on the particular tax circumstances of the individual investor.

The general information below relates only to the taxation of private individuals who are resident in Finland for income tax purposes, and who hold the Certificates as private assets.

Capital gains from the sale of listed Certificates or exercise of listed cash-settled Certificates are subject to taxation in Finland as capital income of the Finnish resident individual investor. The tax rate applicable to capital income is at present 30 per cent. The tax rate for the part of capital income which exceeds EUR 50,000 per year is 32 per cent. (it should be noted that there are plans currently to reduce this threshold to EUR 40,000 as of 2014). Capital gains are not subject to tax withholding, and the taxes due are payable by the Finnish resident individual investor personally. Capital gains arising from a sale of assets are exempted from tax if the total amount of the sales prices of the assets sold by the Finnish resident individual investor does not exceed EUR 1,000 in a tax year.

Capital losses arising from the sale of listed Certificates or exercise of listed cash-settled Certificates are deductible only from capital gains arising from the sale of assets in the same year or during the following five years. The capital losses will not, however, be tax deductible if the total amount of the acquisition prices of the assets sold by the Finnish resident individual investor does not exceed EUR 1,000 in a tax year.

Taxable capital gains and losses are calculated as the difference between the sales or exercise proceeds and the aggregate of the actual acquisition cost of the Certificates and sales- or exercise-related expenses. When calculating capital gains, Finnish resident individual investors may choose to apply the so-called presumptive acquisition cost instead of the actual acquisition cost. The presumptive acquisition cost is normally 20 per cent of the sales or exercise proceeds, but it is 40 per cent of the sales price of listed Certificates or exercise proceeds for listed cash-settled Certificates that have been held by the Finnish resident individual investor for a period of at least ten years. If the presumptive acquisition cost is applied instead of the actual acquisition cost, any sales- or exercise-related expenses are deemed to be included and, therefore, cannot be deducted separately from the sales or exercise proceeds. Finnish resident individual investors must include in their pre-completed tax return information on the sale of the listed Certificates or exercise of the listed cash-settled Certificates taken place during the tax year.

Based on a recent ruling by the Finnish Central Tax Board (KVL 46/2012, appeal pending in the Supreme Administrative Court) concerning non-listed warrants, it would seem that, analogously to the view stated in that ruling, the income from the sale or exercise of non-listed cash-settled Certificates should be subject to taxation in Finland as general capital income of the Finnish resident individual investor, and not as a capital gain. General capital income paid to a Finnish resident individual investor by a Finnish paying agent is, as a starting point, subject to tax withholding at a rate of 30 per cent. The taxes withheld are taken into account as credits in the ordinary taxation of the Finnish resident individual investor. In the ordinary taxation, the capital income is taxable at rates of 30 – 32 per cent as discussed above.

Based on the above-mentioned ruling, losses arising from the sale or exercise of non-listed cash-settled Certificates may likely be non-deductible altogether in the taxation of a Finnish resident individual investor.

In case of exercise of listed Certificates with physical settlement, the starting point should be that no taxable income or loss is realized upon exercise, but the actual acquisition cost of the Certificates is treated as a part of the acquisition cost of the underlying assets received upon exercise. A taxable gain or loss should be realized only upon sale of these underlying assets. It should be noted that there may be specific transfer tax, VAT or other tax considerations in connection with a physical settlement, depending on the particular terms and conditions of the products. This may be the case in particular if the right to physical delivery relates to gold or other commodities or to Finnish securities. There is a high degree of uncertainty concerning the Finnish tax treatment of non-listed Certificates with physical settlement, but as a starting point, their Finnish tax treatment should be similar to that of listed Certificates with physical settlement discussed above.

In the case of tax non-resident investors, capital gains from the sale or exercise of listed cash-settled Certificates is not subject to taxation in Finland, unless the Certificates related to business carried out in Finland through a permanent establishment. Even the income from the sale or exercise of non-listed cash-settled Certificates should not be subject to taxation in Finland for tax non-resident investors unless the Certificates related to business carried out in Finland through a permanent establishment.

VI. SELLING RESTRICTIONS

General

The distribution of the Tripartite Base Prospectus and the offer of the Certificates may be restricted by legal requirements in certain countries.

With respect to all activities in connection with the Certificates, in particular their purchase or sale or the exercise of the certificate rights attaching to the Certificates, the statutory provisions in force in the respective country must be observed by the certificate holders and all other market participants involved. A public offer of the Certificates may normally only be made if a sales prospectus and/or a stock exchange prospectus in compliance with the statutory requirements of the country in which the public offer is being made has been approved by the relevant authority and published beforehand. The prospectus must normally be published by the person making the relevant offer in the respective jurisdiction. The Certificates may be offered or sold only if all applicable securities laws and regulations in force in the jurisdiction in which a purchase, offer, sale or delivery of Certificates is made or in which this document is circulated or kept for inspection have been complied with, and if all consents or authorizations required for the purchase, offer, sale or delivery of the Certificates in accordance with the legal norms in force in that jurisdiction have been obtained and no liabilities of any kind arise for the Issuer.

United States of America

The Certificates are not and will not be registered pursuant to the United States Securities Act of 1933 as amended. They may not be offered, sold, traded or delivered within the United States either directly or indirectly by or to or for the account of a US person (as defined in Regulation S pursuant to the United States Securities Act of 1933), except in the case of exemption from the registration requirements of the Securities Act.

An investor purchasing the Certificates is deemed to have agreed with the Issuer and, if the latter is not also the seller, with the seller of these Certificates (a) not to offer, sell, resell or deliver the Certificates acquired at any time directly or indirectly in the United States or to or for the account of or for the benefit of US persons, (b) not to purchase Certificates for the account of or for the benefit of US persons and (c) not to offer, sell, resell or deliver Certificates (acquired in any other manner) directly or indirectly in the United States or to or for the account of or for the benefit of US persons. In the event that the Certificates are sold, the certificate holder is under an obligation to deliver these selling restrictions to the purchaser or to draw the purchaser's attention to these selling restrictions in writing.

Any person receiving the cash amount in accordance with these terms and conditions is deemed to have made a declaration that the person entitled to the rights arising from the Certificates is not a US person.

United Kingdom

All applicable provisions of the Financial Services and Markets Act 2000 (referred to in the following as the "FSMA") must be observed in relation to all activities in connection with certificates or other derivative products in the United Kingdom. Any communication of invitations or inducements to engage in investment activity within the meaning of Section 21 of the FSMA in connection with the issue or the sale of certificates or other derivative products may only be issued or initiated in circumstances in which Section 21 (1) of the FSMA is not applicable. With respect to securities with a term of more than one year, the following must also be observed: (i) the securities may only be sold by persons whose ordinary activities involve them in acquiring, holding, managing or disposing of investments (as principal or agent) for the purposes of their businesses, and (ii) these persons have not offered or sold securities and will not offer or sell securities except to persons whose ordinary activities involve them in acquiring, holding, managing or disposing of investments (as principal or agent) for the purposes of their businesses, since the issue of the securities would otherwise constitute a contravention of Section 19 of the FSMA by the Issuer.

European Economic Area

In relation to each Member State of the European Economic Area which has implemented the Prospectus Directive (each, a "Relevant Member State"), any person offering the Certificates (the "Offeror") has represented and agreed, that with effect from and including the date on which the Prospectus Directive is implemented in that Relevant Member State (the "Relevant Implementation Date"), it has not made and will not make an offer of Certificates which are the subject of the offering contemplated by this Tripartite Base Prospectus as completed by the Final Terms in relation thereto to the public in that Relevant Member State except that it may, with effect from and including the Relevant Implementation Date, make an offer of such Certificates to the public in that Relevant Member State:

- (a) if the Final Terms in relation to the Certificates specify that an offer of those Certificates may be made other than pursuant to Article 3 (2) of the Prospectus Directive in that Relevant Member State (a "Non-exempt Offer"), following the date of publication of a prospectus in relation to such Certificates which has been approved by the competent authority in that Relevant Member State or, where appropriate, approved in another Relevant Member State and notified to the competent authority in that Relevant Member State, provided that any such prospectus has subsequently been completed by the Final Terms contemplating such Non-exempt Offer in accordance with the Prospectus Directive, in the period beginning and ending on the dates specified in such prospectus or Final Terms, as applicable, and the Issuer has consented in writing to its use for the purpose of that Non-exempt Offer;
- (b) at any time to any legal entity which is a qualified investor as defined in the Prospectus Directive;
- (c) at any time to fewer than 100, or, if the Relevant Member State has implemented the relevant provisions of the 2010 PD Amending Directive, 150 natural or legal persons (other than qualified investors as defined in the Prospectus Directive) subject to obtaining the prior consent of the relevant dealer or dealers nominated by the Issuer for any such offer; or

(d) at any time in any other circumstances falling within Article 3 (2) of the Prospectus Directive,
